Ellenville Area Crash Pushes Toll to 27

Record-Breakers Ready Meteoric Earth Plunge

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — One of man's most exciting and significant space adventures reaches a blazing climax late today when the Gemini 10 astronauts make a meteoric dive back through the atmosphere, bringing home a bundle of records.

Command pilot John W. Young, a Navy Commander, and space-walker Michael Collins, an Air Force major, planned to trigger the retro rockets on their fuel-short spacecraft at 4:31 p.m. EDT to start a fiery descent. The landing in the Atlantic about 550 miles east southeast of Cape Kennedy was timed for 5:07 p.m. EDT.

Carrier in Zone

A recovery force of ships and planes headed by the helicopter aircraft carrier Guadalcanal was stationed in the planned landing zone, where weather conditions were reported good.

Until the re-entry, the astronauts were to drift through space, conserving their precious remaining fuel and conducting whatever photographic and scientific experiments they could.

They were ready to come home after three days aloft. In that period they had had the hatch open three times — twice for Collins' business outside and once to jettison items no longer needed.

Discussing that Wednesday night, Young commented: "We'd like to try for five — on the water. One on the left side, one on the right — no more, thank you."

Despite problems that forced Collins to cut short two space excursions, the flight of Gemini 10 was rated one of the best U.S. man-in-space trips yet.

"This mission is one of the most rewarding we've ever flown," commented Flight Director Glynn Lunney.

Rendezvous Feasible

Lunney said Gemini 10 proved the feasibility of rendezvous with both an active and a passive satellite — the Agena 10 and the Agena 8; that man can survive outside a spacecraft, and that a manned satellite can dock with a fuel tanker in space for long periods and use its engine for maneuvering.

Navy Cmdr. Alan L. Bean, a Gemini 10 backup pilot, told newsmen the rendezvous with the lifeless Agena 8 was the most significant achievement.

"A year ago," Bean said, "we thought it was impossible to

Collins | Leonov | White | Cernan

SPACE-WALKING astronaut Michael Collins of Gemini-10 moves into select company. Only three other spacemen have accomplished the feat of leaving their capsules in orbit. Soviet cosmonaut Alexei Leonov was the first man to walk in space, on the Voskhod-2 flight in March 1965. The first American space walker was Gemini-4 copilot Edward White in June 1965. Eugene Cernan holds the endurance record of two hours set on the Gemini-9 flight last June.

America Also Taking Over As Top Celestial Litterbug

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's many achievements in space include the distinction of being the world's foremost celestial litterbug.

A thermal glove, an exposed roll of color movie film and an expensive 70mm camera are now earth satellites as a result of mishaps while astronauts were outside their spaceships.

In addition, there is a collection of other orbiting junk discarded intentionally by astronauts to save the trouble of stowing.

Gemini 10 pilots John W. Young and Michael Collins threw away about 14 items Wednesday as they prepared their cabin for re-entry.

Most of these went into the bag that had contained the lifeline Collins used for his walk in space. What didn't go into the bag was just tossed out the hatch, like the lifeline itself.

The pilots, cramped for space among all the loose gear, were especially happy to see the lifeline go. When Mission Control asked about it, Collins replied, "Gone, thank God."

Collins lost two objects during his half hour outside Gemini 10. One of these was the 70mm camera, another was a small experiment package he was to attach to the Agena 8.

During Gemini 4, astronaut Edward H. White II watched as a thermal glove drifted out of the hatch.

While Eugene A. Cernan was strolling outside Gemini 9 a magazine of exposed movie film got away from him, as did a lens.

Eventually, all of this space flotsam will burn to cinders as gravity pulls it into the dense atmosphere.

Reds Kayo Three More, Eight Airmen Missing

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — North Viet Nam's antiaircraft defenses shot down three more U.S. Air Force planes — one a radar ship packed with electronic detection and jamming gear — as American pilots ran through another barrage of missiles and sighted more Communist MIGs, the U.S. military command announced today.

Six Aboard One

The twin-jet RB66 reconnaissance plane with a crew of six was the second of its type reported lost in the war. The other planes brought down in raids Wednesday were both single-seat F105 Thunderchief fighter-bombers, bringing the announced toll of American aircraft over the Communist North to 298.

All eight airmen were listed as missing.

The North Vietnamese fired off nine Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles and American pilots sighted six Communist jet fighters, the U.S. command said. There was no report of any clashes with the enemy planes.

Under the U.S. command's usual reporting policy, there was no announcement whether the planes were lost to missiles or conventional ground fire.

The RB66 was hit about 70 miles north-northwest of Hanoi, while one of the Thunderchiefs went down on a strike 60 miles north-northeast of anoi, a U.S. spokesman said.

Seven Downed in Week

The location of the other loss was not immediately announced.

Seven American planes have been reported shot down in North Viet Nam this week. On Tuesday, a missile knocked down one U.S. plane and a MIG17 got another. American jets encountered a record barrage of 29 SAMs.

U.S. Combat casualties declined sharply last week, a military spokesman announced. He said 65 Americans were killed, 368 wounded and none were missing in action in the week of July 10-16, compared with 110 killed, 620 wounded and seven missing the previous seven days.

Marines Kill 49 Reds

The casualties brought the number of Americans killed this year to an unofficial toll of 2,456 and to 4,304 since the beginning of U.S. involvement in the war on Jan. 1, 1961.

U. S. Marines combing the jungled mountains just south of the border reported killing 49 more North Vietnamese troops Wednesday to raise the enemy toll to 425 since 7,000 Leathernecks and 3,000-South Vietnamese soldiers began Operation Hastings last Friday. The Communists were killed in small scattered engagements.

The Reds broke off contact before dawn, but U. S. Air Force B52s roared in from Guam several hours later to pound Communist infiltration routes near the Marine operation 40 miles west of Quang Tri City.

Toll Near 1,000

Brig. Gen. Lowell English, the Marine task force commander, told Premier Nguyen Cao Ky during a visit to the area that 400 North Vietnamese dead had been confirmed by body count and another 562 Communists were probably killed.

The Viet Cong briefly mortared the Quang Ngai airfield, on the coast 320 miles northeast of Saigon, and a South Vietnamese spokesman said the predawn shelling caused light damage. There were also three smallscale Viet Cong attacks on Vietnamese outposts elsewhere in the province in an upsurge of guerrilla activity.

Elsewhere in South Viet Nam, no significant fighting was reported.

UR Agency Urges Curbing Hostility, Work Together

"We should all work together to solve the difficult problems of urban renewal without the hostility that is so manifest," says a statement released today by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency in reply to recent questions by Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward.

Among replies to Gallo's questions, it was noted that the weekly gross payroll of the UR Agency, which has a staff of 15 is $1,653.46, and that Raymond & May Associates, of Pleasantville, planning consultants, received $129,075, to date, for work done.

Included in the latter are $48,330 for the Broadway East project, $51,845 for the Uptown project, and $28,900 for the Rondout General Neighborhood Plan study.

A formal reply to Gallo's questions, was signed by Frank A. Reis, URA chairman, and in its separate reply dealing with them the agency said:

"Anyone serving on a municipal agency and devoting hundreds of hours a year to the problems of that agency without any compensation whatsoever needs to have his head examined. He could more profitably and more enjoyably devote these hours to his business, family and recreation. Yet, it is good for our city that there are misguided souls so interested in their city that they are willing to freely serve and to suffer the slings and arrows of an outraged citizenry.

"The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency is under the law a corporate governmental agency created by state statute. Before the enactment of such law in 1964 the Common Council of our city manifested its agreement that there should be such an independent agency with independent powers. We of the agency in the two years of our existence have to the best of our ability tried to be pleasant and coopera-

Nothing Mentioned About Eight Nurses

Speck Is Formally Charged; Meets With Attorney, Cleric

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, who is accused of slaughtering eight student nurses, was formally charged with murder Wednesday and conferred with his lawyer and a minister.

The Rev. David Peterson, 30, a Lutheran minister, spent 20 minutes with Speck in the City Jail Hospital and told newsmen: He is concerned about his relationship with God. I think that primarily was the reason he saw me. It was a very personal conversation."

The Rev. Mr. Peterson, pastor of the Irving Park Lutheran Church of Chicago, said Speck asked him to visit again today. The minister said he would if jail authorities agree.

Speck, an itinerant seaman with a long arrest record in Dallas, Tex., was formally charged with murder and the hearing was continued to July 28.

The call for a minister was the first request made by Speck since he was carried into the Cook County Hospital emergency room early Sunday, bleeding from self-inflicted slashes to his arms and reeking from alcohol.

He was later transferred to the City Jail Hospital.

Speck, 24, had been named by Police Supt. O. W. Wilson Saturday as the person who methodically took the eight nurses, one-by-one, into rooms of their townhouse residence and slashed or strangled them.

Appears Under Stress

Speck asked his attorney in their first meeting Wednesday to summon a minister.

The Rev. Mr. Peterson said nothing was mentioned about the nurses. He said Speck appeared under stress, but looked well.

Speck's attorney, Public Defender Gerald W. Getty, spent three or four minutes in the hospital room with Speck.

"I advised him of his rights," Getty said. "I also informed him who I was and asked if he wanted me to represent him. He said he did. I informed him his brother and his brother-in-law were outside and asked him if he wanted to see them. He said he did not."

N.Y. Man Drowns In Area Pool; Was Vacationing

While swimming in a pool at Sunrise Hillcrest Lodge, Mountain Road, Town of Rosendale, at about 4:30 p. m. Wednesday, William F. Smith, 56, of 2400 Sedgwick Avenue, Bronx, accidentally drowned in eight feet of water.

Was Retired Ship Worker

Smith was a retired claim agent for the Holland-American Lines, according to Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser, who took part in the investigation at the scene.

Coroner Keyser ruled the death accidental and said Smith died of asphyxiation due to submersion.

Chief Constable Harold T. Bowers, Rosendale, reported Smith and his wife, Beatrice S. Smith were vacationing at the resort. It was reported that the man was seen by other swimmers trying to balance himself on his hands on the bottom of the pool when he failed to return to the surface. The body was recovered in eight feet of water, authorities said.

Donald DePuy, owner of Don's Ambulance Service, Rosendale, and assistants worked several minutes with the resuscitator in an attempt to revive Smith, but to no avail. Smith was pronounced dead.

Two Recover Body

Authorities said the body was recovered by Salvatore Finale, 9 Lincoln Place, Weehawken, N. J., and Sigrid Byersdorf, of Germany, who is spending the summer at the Sunrise Hillcrest Lodge, which is owned by Adulf Kuenzler.

Others who investigated at the

Expect Fichtner Naming Tonight

A special meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors will be held tonight at 8 o'clock to name an acting superintendent of highways to succeed Roland Green who had served as County Superintendent of Highways for a number of years.

Green succeeded the late James F. Loughran. Green resigned the job to accept a position as consulting engineer with the Jamaican government with offices in Kingston, Jamaica.

It is expected that former Supervisor George Fichtner of Shandaken, who has been associated with the highway department for several years as an assistant superintendent, will be named to the post of acting superintendent.

GEMINI 10 VIEWS—This unusual photo was the result of 11 separate exposures on one sheet of film when Gemini 10 was rocketed into orbit at Cape Kennedy, Fla. The fan effect of the gantry being lowered and the Titan rocket going up was achieved by making ten exposures through a mask and slit that worked on a pivot, the mask covering the entire film area except for the slit that exposed only the gantry as it went down. This mask was removed and a fan-shaped mask blocked out the gantry area with a final exposure showing the spacecraft being rocketed upward. (AP Wirephoto)

Reserve Decision On Meadows Plan For More Water

Decision was reserved Tuesday by Hearing Master Kenneth R. Ahrenholz of the New York State Water Resources Commission, Conservation Department, on the application of the Rolling Meadows Water Corporation for approval of a permanent connection of that water system to the Elmendorf Water Company source at Elmendorf Heights and on application of Elmendorf Water Company to expand its services.

The hearings were held at Hurley town hall.

Wants Connection

The first application was by the Rolling Meadows Water Corporation for formal consent to make a permanent connection with the Elmendorf source to supply the residents of Rolling Meadows area. This connection has existed under a temporary arrangement for some time.

The second hearing was on the application of the Elmendorf Water Company to make the connection and for an expansion of the Elmendorf system to supply additional customers in the former Wiltwyck Golf Course area and the proposed John A. Coleman Catholic High School to be erected on a portion of the former golf course adjacent to Hurley Avenue.

It is sought to gain authority to serve developments on the former golf course property owned by Golf Course Properties, Inc., as well as the proposed school.

There was no opposition to either of the applications.

Engineer Testifies

Testimony was offered by Christus Larios of the engineering firm of Brinnier & Larios as to the availability of an adequate water source from wells on the Elmendorf property which draws water from the Esopus gravel which provides an excellent source.

It is estimated that the source is capable of supplying a million gallons a day. The application

Woodstock Wants Moves To Limit Drinking, Noise

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA
(Freeman Staff Writer)

Some people call them beatniks or off-beat; others call them rabble-rousing rowdies; a few go so far as to define them as vagrants. The Woodstock Town Board, however, prefers to think of them as "a certain element in the community."

By whatever name they go, they pose problems in Woodstock, one of Ulster County's biggest resort-minded art colonies and, facing those problems head-on this week, the Woodstock Town Board proposed two hard-hitting and stringent new ordinances, aimed at eliminating public drinking and late hour noise.

After a study of other communities with similar problems, such as the Lake George area, the Board set August 2 as the date for a public hearing on two new ordinances—one to regulate the consumption of alcoholic beverages in public places; the other to regulate use and occupancy of public places in Woodstock.

Said Supervisor William R. West Jr., in announcing the Board's decision, "We have been aware that we have some problems and that our constables have been in need of tools to make their work easier with a certain element in the community As a result, we are taking two steps which we feel will better enable our constables to perform their duties."

To bring a screeching halt to open drinking on public streets and the litter of beer cans which accompanies such behavior, the first ordinance proposed takes drastic measures against the consumption and possession of alcoholic beverages in public places. Among the regulations proposed: no person shou'd have in his possession any open bottle can or container containing

Six Lose Lives In 209 Mishap, Three Serious

Six persons were killed and three others seriously injured early today in a life-shattering two-car headon collision which occurred on Route 209 about 4/10's of a mile inside Ulster County near the Sullivan County line at Spring Glen.

The deaths skyrocketed the county death toll for 1966 from 21 to 27. The 27th highway fatality in 1965 was recorded by authorities on Aug. 15.

Three Women Victims

Both drivers of the cars involved in the county's worst multiple death highway collision on record were killed. The dead included three women and another man.

The crash occurred at 2:10 a. m.

Ellenville State Police reported both cars were totally destroyed.

Ulster County Coroner Arthur C. Chipp, Kerhonkson, investigated at the scene with State Police and later took part in the examination of the six bodies at the Ulster County Morgue in Kingston Hospital.

Those killed and injured in the mishap resided outside Ulster County.

Lengthy Identification

Identification of the bodies took hours as State Police and Coroner Chipp examined those involved and notified the next of kin of each victim.

Troopers said the cars were operated by Russell K. DeVore, 26, of 20 River Street, Port Jervis, and Donald Bowden, 46, of 2047 East 23rd Street, Brooklyn. Both were killed.

Coroner Chipp and troopers at Ellenville identified the other

Victims of Crash

Hedy Bowden, 16, daughter of one of the drivers, who was seated next to her father in the family 1960 car. She died of a fractured skull, lacerated brain, internal hemorrhaghes.

Helene Bowden, (age not available) wife of Stanley Bowden of Brooklyn, who was riding in the rear seat of the Bowden car. Her death resulted from a crushed chest and internal hemorrhages.

John DeWitt Schauer, 34, of RD, Port Jervis, a passenger in the DeVore car. He died of a skull fracture, lacerated brain, fracture of the lower jaw.

Miss Bonnie Rhodes, about 25, of West Brookville, who died of a fractured skull, lacerated brain. She also suffered a fractured right leg and crushed right foot.

Coroner Chipp reported DeVore died of a skull fracture, lacerations of the brain, severe lacerations of the face. He said Donald Bowden sustained multiple rib fractures, a fractured sternum and a compound fracture of the right leg. Bowden also suffered internal hemorrhages and a crushed chest.

MICHAEL M. ARONICA

Henry Hopper, district superintendent of schools, has announced the appointment of Michael M. Aronica, former director of Vocational Education for Kingston City Schools, to the position of Director of Vocational Education for the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services.

Aronica was associated with the Kingston School District Consolidated for 15 years as a teacher of Trade Machine Shop and more recently as director of Vocational Education.

During the school year 1965-66 Aronica has been on a leave of absence for the purpose of structuring a master plan for vocational education in Ulster,

JDAGrants $534,000 For Area

Two loans totaling $534,000 to aid in the expansion plans of two Ulster County industries were approved this week by New York Job Development Authority. They were among 17 loans approved for state industries by the authority.

A $240,000 loan to Kingston Area Industrial Development Corp., was approved for purchase of land and construction of a building in Roseton for Marlboro Freezers Inc.

Total $1,909,128

The loans approved totaled $1,909,128 to help industrial growth in the state, including expansion by German and Canadian-owned firms.

The loan for the Ulster County firm building in Roseton, Orange County is for 15 years with 3¼ per cent second mortgage. The company is a frozen fruit and produce processor, a subsidiary of A. Peltz & Sons, New York City, and expects to employ 150 persons after a year of operation at the site. Total project cost is $800,000, with additional financing to be supplied by Kingston Trust Company.

W. Dale Swartzmiller, State Commerce Department Kingston Office regional manager, participated in negotiations leading toward the loan.

A $294,000 JDA loan was also approved for V.A.W. United Aluminum Works of America, Inc., a subsidiary of Vereinigte Aluminum-Worke AG Bonn, Germany for expansion of its Ellenville facility.

For 20 Years

The V.A.W. loan is for 20 years with a 4¾ per cent second mortgage, and was made through Ellenville Industrial Expansion Corp. It will help the company buy a 112,000 square foot building adjacent to its present plant in Ellenville.

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, State Commerce Commissioner Keith S. McHugh and the Department's European representative in Brussels, J. Stephen Stanton, took part in persuading the German-owned firm to locate a manufacturing operation in New York State. Swartzmiller participated in negotiations leading toward the loan.

The company produces aluminum billets and tubing for sale to aluminum product fabricators. An estimated 32 new jobs are expected to be added to the present 188 after a year of operation in the new facility. The parent German company is a primary smelter of aluminum.

Total cost of the project is $980,000, with additional financing being supplied by the Employes Profit Sharing Fund of Channel Master Corporation, which sold the plant to V.A.W. United Aluminum. It is estimated that new equipment for the plant will amount to more than $2 million.

Cite Sound Policy

State Commerce Commissioner McHugh stated: "These loans demonstrate the basic soundness of the state's international commerce program designed to induce foreign manufacturers to locate plants in New York State, as well as to help our manufacturers sell their products abroad."

The 17 JDA loans are expected to help create an estimated 533 new jobs and to save 231 others for New York State. The

Albany Medical College Receives $511,000 Grant

ALBANY, N. Y., July 20 — Albany Medical College has received a federal grant that will bring the school $511,000 over the next four years, Dr. Harold C. Wiggers, executive vice-president and Dean of the College, has announced.

The grant, from the U. S. Public Health Service, is one of the first in the federal government's new Health Professions Educational Improvement Program. Legislation establishing the program was passed by Congress and signed by President Johnson last year.

'Welcome Step'

In announcing the grant, Dean Wiggers hailed it as "a welcome step in the right direction. With this program, the federal government acknowledges that it is as much in the nation's interest to meet the educational needs of our medical schools as it is to support their medical research."

The primary purpose of the program is to improve the educational programs and resources of the nation's schools of medicine, dentistry, osteopathy, optometry and podiatry. Another objective is to cut down the nation's doctor shortage by increasing the enrollments of medical schools.

In announcing the grant, Dean Wiggers said it will be used to strengthen the faculty of the college through salary improvement and through recruitment of additional faculty, particularly in basic science departments.

Also, the college will make a modest increment in the size of its entering class. Beginning in 1967, the college will increase the size of its freshman class from 62 to 67 students.

Based on Formula

Funds provided by the grant cannot be used for construction purposes, nor can they be used for research. The grant is designed to supplement, not supplant, non-federal support of the school's activities, and the college must continue to spend at least as much of its own funds as it has been spending on educational operations.

Under the terms of the grant, the college will receive $51,000 this year, $151,000 next year, $152,000 in 1968 and $157,000 in 1969.

The grant is based on a formula which provides a set sum, plus an allowance for each full-time student. When the formula is in full operation next year, the college will receive $25,000 plus $500 for every student.

Overdue Scrubbing

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — The Monroe County Office Building will get its face washed for the first time in 72 years by the same company that built it in 1894.

The scrubbing will be done soon by A. Friederich & Sons Co. at a cost of $100,000, county officials said. The company constructed the three-story granite and marble structure for $805,000.

The building housed the county court until two years ago. Court functions are now performed in the Hall of Justice.

Wexler Promoted

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) —Philip Wexler is a new assistant commissioner of mental hygiene, at an annual salary of $21,915.

Wexler, who has been director of professional education and training in the State Mental Hygiene Department, was named Wednesday to the post.

He will administer department training programs and state - aided training programs for community mental health boards.

Mayone Conducts Informal School About Narcotics

Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone held an informal school on narcotics Tuesday night at the town hall in New Paltz at which time he spoke on the narcotic problem which is facing the country today.

In an informal manner Mayone discussed the problem, showed samples of various narcotic drugs which were identified to local police officials and the film "Decision" was shown. Manner and methods of use of various narcotics were explained to the officials and the use of marijuana, a common drug used widely, was explained.

Attending the informal school were constables from the Towns of New Paltz, Plattekill, Gardiner, Saugerties and justices of the peace from Plattekill and New Paltz. State police from the Highland substation, Supervisor Peter Savago of the Town of New Paltz and members of the New Paltz Village Board also attended. Approximately 50 persons were present to hear the discussion and have the various drugs identified and receive instruction in the common use of and effect of various narcotics.

The program had been set up by Patrolman Silas Countryman of the New Paltz police department.

Guardsmen Stay On Standby in Chi Armories

CHICAGO (AP) — Seven-hundred National Guardsmen remained in armories on standby alert today in a West Side neighborhood struck by rioting last week.

Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane, commanding general of the 33rd Division, Illinois National Guard, said 700 other troops were released at midnight Wednesday night because of the prevailing calm in the area.

He said 700 guardsmen would be kept on standby alert in armories.

The troops were called off the streets Tuesday. More than 3,000 guardsmen were activated Friday night after three nights of rioting.

Earlier Wednesday, about 200 persons attended funeral services at the Stone Temple Baptist Church for Rosland Howard, 14, who was accidentially shot during the rioting.

She was killed by a stray bullet Thursday night as she stood on a porch near her home and the church.

Fla. Youth Dies

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Stephen M. Avecedo, 19, of St. Petersburg, Fla., died today in Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered in the collision of two automobiles near Fulton Monday.

Police said Avecedo, who was visiting relatives in Fulton, was riding in one of two cars that collided at the intersection of Route 6 and a rural road.

Avecedo lived at 1293 73rd Ave. in St. Petersburg.

Civil Service Exam

The U.S. Civil Service Commission today announced an examination for military personnel clerk (typing), $4,641 per year; military personnel clerk, typing, $5,181; and clerk $5,181, for the 904th Troop Carrier Group, Stewart Air Force Base, New York. These are air reserve technician positions. Air Reserve Technicians are full time civilian employes who also are members of the Air Force Reserve Unit in which they are employed. Competitors will be rated on the basis of a combination of their score in an appropriate written test and the extent and quality of their education, training and experience. Full information with instructions may be obtained from most larger post offices, at Civil Service Offices, Boards of U.S. Civil Service Examiners and at the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, Dobbins Air Force Base, Ga.

Eye $13,296,000 Expansion Plan At Point Academy

WASHINGTON (AP)—An expansion program at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., will proceed under a $13,296,000 appropriation, if the House Armed Services Committee has its way.

The committee included that increase Wednesday in its approval of a $1,065,975,000 construction measure for military bases in this country and abroad.

That amount was a $90,302,000 increase over the sum approved by the Senate in May and was $21,319,000 more than requested by the Johnson administration.

The House committee also voted to require that Congress be notified of any plans to close a military base at least 30 days before the expiration of a congressional session.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is an idea which other mothers of small children might appreciate.

When our two boys were small, I thumbtacked a large sheet of drawing paper to the wall in their bedroom. On it, I pasted the following pictures in this order:

A child picking up his toys, one getting dressed for bed, hanging up clothes, washing his face and brushing his teeth, and last (but far from least), a picture of a child kneeling by the bed to say his prayers.

Rather than having to tell them each step of preparing for bed every night, they looked at the pictures and were reminded to do everything they should do.

It wasn't long before each step of preparation became such a habit that they no longer needed the pictures.

I'm sure all our dispositions were better because Mother didn't have to nag or supervise every move.

Mrs. J. B. Forsythe

Dear Heloise:

Since chopping walnuts is one of my troublesome tasks when cooking or baking, I was happy to read about crushing walnuts with a rolling pin, with the nuts happily between wax paper.

I started to try it, but at the last moment, I put the nuts in one of those little plastic bags and, hot dog! It worked just grand, and the wallnuts I didn't need could be left in the bag, for next time.

Might as well add another gem while I'm at it and tell the "no-rolling-pin" group, that a bottle will work just as well.

Julie Crawford

I hope all you new brides read Julie's advice on using a bottle (such as a vinegar bottle) for a rolling pin.

There are so many things to buy for the kitchen when you first set up housekeeping, why not "make do" for the items you don't use too often—such as a rolling pin?

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Anyone can enjoy the luxury of shoes and bags to match dresses and suits at a ridiculously small cost.

At the end of the summer, some stores sell their summer stock of good quality white and pastel fabric shoes (sometimes soiled) for as little as two dollars, and purses for as little as one dollar.

I buy several pairs of these shoes and a fabric-covered purse for each pair, and keep them on hand.

When I have a new dress or suit that I want to match, I dye a pair of shoes and a bag with one of the new shoe cosmetics.

When you've collected several bottles of different colored shoe cosmetics, you can obtain almost any color you want by mixing two or more of them together.

When traveling by car, if you fold your road map so that only the area in which you're traveling is showing, and fix it with paper clips, you can find your route quickly and easily. B.B.

Dear Heloise:

If you like guacamole or avocado salads and find your avocados are still too hard to mash easily with a fork, grab your cheese grater and grate away. The avocado becomes soft enough to work with easily.

Takes less time than chopping, and you have a choice of using the large or small side of the grater.

I'm a twelve-year-old girl.

I always take along a plastic bag when I go swimming, to place my wet suit in after my swim.

It keeps my suitcase snug and dry, and the plastic bag doesn't take up any room.

Fatal Average Low

NEW YORK (AP) — The number of airplane fatalities averaged 1.1 per million passenger hours on scheduled airline flights within the United States during 1965.

The committee on aviation of the Society of Actuaries, which analyzes air accident statistics, reported Wednesday that the average has remained virtually constant over the past 12 years.

On the international level the United States has a better record than foreign countries, the committee said. From 1961 to 1964 U.S. airlines averaged 1.0 deaths per million passenger hours, compared with the foreign average of 3.5.

Ellenville Sets Hospital Flag Rites on Friday

A flag presentation and ceremony will take place at Ellenville Community Hospital Friday, July 22, at 6 p. m. The public is invited to attend the ceremony which will be held outdoors in the area around the newly built flag-pole in front of the hospital. In the event of rain, the flag presentation will be made at the entrance to the hospital.

The flag, which recently flew over the U. S. Capitol, will be presented by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, and received on behalf of the hospital by Benjamin Lonstein, president of the Board of Directors of the voluntary non-profit institution.

Members of the area's veterans' organizations and other civic groups have been invited to participate in a brief ceremonial program in which the flag will be raised for the first time on the new hospital premises. If it should rain the flag will not be raised until the first clear day following the presentation, since it is not proper to fly the flag in stormy weather.

Would Speed Acquisition

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., has introduced legislation to permit the Delaware River Basin Commission to advance $30 million to the federal government for land acquisition in the new Delaware Water Gap National Recreational Area.

The measure, introduced Wednesday in the House, would speed land acquisition in the projected 46,000-acre park, Widnall said.

SOUTH AFRICAN POLICY

For several years now, Washington's African policy has been a delicate mixture of idealism and pragmatism.

On paper at least, we're committed to the principle of national self-determination. But then there's South Africa — where U.S. investments (500 million) and a favorable balance of trade ($140 million) take some of the sting out of the country's rigid apartheid concept.

The key ingredient in this balance is the hope that nothing will ever occur to rock the boat. But in turbulent Africa, crises arise faster than most diplomats foresee, each capable of generating a wave.

Such a crisis is now looming, and the resulting backwash could sink our African policy for good.

Within the next four months, the International Court will hand down its long-awaited decision on South West Africa which, under a League of Nations mandate, has been a virtual colony of South Africa since 1918.

Since then, South Africa has been under continuous fire from all corners for failing to comply with Article 2 of the mandate, requiring her to "promote to the utmost the material and moral well-being and social progress of the inhabitants." The basic argument is that though South Africa's attempts to apply apartheid to the mandated territory may be in the best interests of South West Africa's 70,000 whites they deprive the territory's 500,000 blacks of civil and economic freedom.

Six years ago, Ethiopia and Liberia asked the International Court to "adjudge and declare" that South Africa is responsible to the United Nations for the administration of the territory and that she has violated her obligations.

The weight of evidence clearly seems to be against South Africa, though she spent an estimated $12 million to prove that apartheid was in the best interests of everybody in the territory.

Should the decision go this way, Washington's boat will be rocked. South Africa could calm the waves by agreeing with it—renouncing her claims to the territory and placing it under U.N. administration.

But even those diplomats who have taken comfort for years in the thought that constructive and peaceful change could occur gradually in South Africa aren't betting this way. More likely, she will announce rejection of the decision or just plain ignore it.

Both of these reactions have been anticipated. Washington has tried—without success—to devise some sort of economic sanction which will not hurt the United States worse than South Africa. Black African nations have carefully prepared their half-hour speeches—five minutes invective against South Africa and 25 minutes against "Western hypocrisy."

Russia and Red China have eagerly planned their tactics to recoup a little lost prestige in the Dark Continent.

Whatever the outcome, Washington's delicate fence-straddling on Africa appears to be over. A very hard decision will have to be made. It appears that it will be between losing one arm or both arms.

Britain and France will proceed with the Channel tunnel project — with each, doubtless, retaining the right to plug up its end in emergencies.

SURVEYOR'S LUNAR SHOW

Surveyor I continues to put on an exciting show with a considerable element of suspense in it. There was the first sensational performance, then the retreat into quiescence as the bitterly cold lunar night fell—and then, with lunar sunrise two weeks later, the triumphant revival.

But wait: the terrible blaze of lunar daylight heated Surveyor's batteries to the danger point. It was nip and tuck, for awhile, whether they would survive the solar onslaught. Surveyor failed to respond to commands; it appeared to be dying.

Then the temperature declined to a tolerable level. The photographic survey of the side where astronauts may land a few years hence was resumed. All in all, it was a show that made most of the summer television drama seem mighty pale by comparison. Which may not be much of a compliment, after all, come to think of it.

A new study indicates no computer will ever be made that can think like humans. But who'd want computers that confused?

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

RED CHINA CAN BE FRAGMENTED

Cumbersome though its machinery of political succession may be, the Soviet Union has managed to survive the deaths of Lenin and Stalin and the superannuation of Nikita Krushchev. And simply because a Communist organization in Russia has managed to live through several succession crises over the period of a rough half-century, it is assumed that the pattern will be repeated for Communist nations elsewhere in the world. Specifically, it is assumed that developments in Red China must follow the historical course established by Moscow. But there are many important sociological and psychological differences between the two great Marxist powers, and there is no reason to believe that what is traditional for one must necessarily become traditional for the other.

A veteran Taiwan diplomat, with a 35-year record of unassailable objectivity, inferentially points out in private correspondence that political control in Soviet Russia has always come to rest in the hands of party civilians. Lenin, Stalin, Malenkov, Krushchev, Kosygin and Brezhnev all rose through the Communist political hierarchy to control the Red Army along with the police and propaganda aparatuses. It is true that no pure intellectual has ever ruled Communist Russia, but every Russian leader has been an intellectual of sorts.

In the case of Red China, a deviation from this sort of thing seems to be shaping up. Not too long ago it looked as though Liu Shao-chi, the chairman of the Peking Communist regime, would be Mao Tse-tung's successor. But Liu has grown old along with Mao. Meanwhile, the star of Lin Piao, the militarist who represents the Chinese Red Army, has been rising. Lin Piao has recovered his health since the Korean War, and is now in tireless pursuit of the power that may enable him to seize the baton from the clutch of a dying Mao.

The veteran Taiwan diplomat says the current purge of the intellectuals in Red China is a noisy sideshow in a land where, far more than in bureaucratized Soviet Russia, political power "issues from the barrel of a gun." (The quotation about political power, of course, comes from Mao Tse-tung.) Lin Piao, accodding to my informant, will in all probability be able to eliminate both the intellectuals and his civilian opponents, including Liu Shao-chi and Chou En-lai. But when the elimination of the intellecuals and the civilians has been completed, what then?

It is at this point that Chinese tradition, which is utterly different from the traditions of Russia, could provoke a fork in the trail of history. Communism in Soviet Russia took over all the centralizing tendencies of the Romanoffs. But China has never had a centralist tradition. The old emperors rued by dispatching their mandarin lieutenants to the various provinces, and the ordinary pattern was for the mandarin court representative to maintain a loose rein on a regional war lord. But the war lord often had the final say. Chiang Kai-shek tried valiantly to bring an end to the pattern of war lordism, but he was defeated in 1948 by Mao Tse-tung, who had, in effect, maintained himself as a Communist war lord in northwest China throughout the period of the Japanese war.

The question, as the veteran Taiwan diplomat sees it, is whether Lin Piao can, in victory, continue to command the allegiance of all or most of his armed forces. If he cannot, a confusing situation might follow, with war lordism re-emerging in a return to the classical Chinese pattern.

The big difference between a new and an older war lordism would derive from the presence, in Taiwan, of a large modern army of 600,000 well-trained troops. If a disintegration of Communist power should occur on the Chinese mainland because of the rise of separate militarisms, the Taiwan army would be a make-weight worth courting by, say, a war lord in Canton.

This is speculation as it appears in the veteran Taiwan diplomat's private correspondence. It was not intended as anything official, nor was it directed to anyone in power in the U. S. government. However, the possibility that the control of the Chinese on the mainland can be fissured and fractured during the course of the looming succession crisis shouud be a Number One consideration with Lyndon Johnson in the White House and with the CIA. Lenin and Stalin had the centralizing tradition of the Czars behind them; Mao Tse-tung has only a history of striving against centrifugal forces which may, with his passing, resume their sway.

The Doctor's Mailbag

No Harmful Side Effect From Thyroid Extract

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M. D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I've taken thyroid extract daily for years. My doctor says I'll need it for the rest of my life Are there any harmful side effects?

A—If your thyroid doesn't secrete enough of its hormone, you must continue this replacement therapy. There will be no side effects if the dosage is adjusted to your individual needs. Too large a dose would cause nervous irritability, palpitation and a feeling of excessive warmth in a room where others are comfortable.

Q—What are the symptoms of thyroid deficiency? Is it a common disease?

A—Too little thyroid hormone causes slowing up of mental and physical activity but in their milder stages these symptoms are hard to measure and may be due to fatigue and other causes. In a more severe stage your skin would get rough and dry, you would gain weight and your hair would become dry and brittle. All these symptoms can be controlled with carefully adjusted doses of thyroid extarct.

Thyroid deficiency is not common but it is seen five times more often in women than in men and most frequently between the ages of 30 and 60. The deficiency may be congenital or it may be the result of removing too much of an overactive thyroid.

Q—How is the protein-bound iodine (PBI) test made? How does it compare with the basic metabolic rate (BMR)?

A—The PBI test is a measure of the protein-bound iodine in your blood. This and the radioactive iodine uptake test are simplier and more reliable tests of thyroid activity than the older BMR.

Q—I am an unmarried woman, 26. I have a goiter that is growing outward. I believe this is not as dangerous as an inward kind. Should it be removed? Is this type of goiter unusual in a person my age? What is the likelihood of it being a cancer?

A—Since the simple or colloid goiter is caused by a lack of iodine in the water or food it can occur at any age but usually starts at puberty. It is 10 times as common in women as in men. Although the use of iodized salt will prevent the disease, it will not cure it once it is established. Small doses of thyroid extract, taken daily for a year or more, will often cure it. Operation to remove this type of goiter is necessary only when a rapidly growing goiter causes undue pressure on the windpipe or when there is bleeding into the goiter itself. Simple goiters do not tend to become cancerous.

Q—On a recent PBI test my reading was 2.3. Is this high or low?

A—Since the normal range is four to eight your reading is low and, if persistent, would indicate that you need thyroid extract.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The American official in from central Viet Nam province was attempting to explain how the Viet Cong had taken over "model" settlements in his area.

The government had lavished large sums of money, scores of advisers and technical experts and military backup on this group of villages. In all, 30 "model" hamlets had been established in the local area by mid-1964.

Yet out of the 30 hamlets, the Communists took over 24 in less than two years. They did this without military attacks. The hamlets simply offered no political resistance.

The hamlets in this particular area were part of the government's land redevolpment program. Economically, the people were well off. The government cleared land for them, dug wells, brought in bulldozers and graders to clear and repair roads. The people were aided with free fertilizer, seed, trees and halth facilities as well as schools.

With years of government aid, the people were actually quite psoperous compared with folk in the average Vietnamese hamlet.

"The Viet Cong started by bringing in political organizers," said the U. S. official. "At the beginning, these men simply went around talking and making friends.

"The VC tried to send in as agents relatives of people who already lived in the hamlets. These men contacted sympathizers who lived locally and drew out and trained some of these men and sent them back in. It was out of these groups that the VC built their local organization.

"Once they had won some friends and had a small underground organization going, they secretly moved in on the school teachers. They talked to them quietly, one by one, encouraged them to change their teaching to include large doses of Communist propaganda. The VC didn't go through the local government or the school administration. They just privately hunted out the teachers and worked on them with threats.

"The teachers who followed this Red advice were allowed to stay. Those teachers who refused to knuckle to the VC threats were terriorized until they fled or agreed to teach Red propaganda. The VC didn't control the government or any part of it at this time. They just moved in on the teachers and leaned on them.

"Then the Viet Cong infiltrated the youth farm organizations. They simply came in and took over the leadership. They did this by first getting their men in key posts and then by manipulating the meetings.

"The VC agents were very effective. The government men came and went, but you saw the Viet Cong man every day. He'd stop and talk to you about your problems, meanwhile getting in digs about the government. He'd talk about high taxes or official corruption. He'd sit or squat barefoot and talk right there in the dirt.

"He included many distortions and lies, but he sounded logical to the peasant who had felt the high taxes and seen the corruption — even if he was doing well."

The moral as this American official sees it is: "You can't change a people's loyalty by economic benefits — if they don't trust the government."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Saturday the Lions Club sponsored an antique show at Ross Park in Port Ewen. The day was warm but nice, although quite sunny with some dealers having large colorful umbrellas at their displays. A number of the dealers had post cards, some with local scenes. I obtained one U.S. Postal Card which was sent by the First National Bank from Troy, July 12, 1881. The condition is good and printing on the card is decorative and handwriting is a work of art, I think. Another card is of Berlin, with three different types of trolley cars and I think a horse-bus. The date of this card is 1912. A number of coin displays were there and some large photographs of Hudson river steamers.

This park is so easy to reach, that I am sure next year they will have many more visitors there. The park is about two blocks from the new Port Ewen Post Office. One of the interesting displays was of the ship models and paintings and antique items from the Hudson River steamers collected, arranged and made and painted by William Benson of Sleightsburgh. These shows are always exciting because of the interesting people and old friends who come there and the items collected, shown and on sale for everyone to look over.

The Lions Club gave out a little brochure in which they give the history of the Town of Esopus which was founded in April of 1811, when James Madison was President of the United States. Some four years before Robert Fulton steamed up past Esopus on his North River (Clermont) steamboat. It is said, Indians were still living in the Town's boundaries in 1811.

The town it is said, has grown to a population of some 7,300. It is one of the few townships in New York State to be bounded on three sides by water—on the east by the Hudson River, on the north by Rondout Creek, and on the west by the Wallkill River, and has some 22,247 acres. Ulster County's only candidate for president of the United States was a resident of the Town of Esopus. Judge Alton B. Parker, in 1904 ran against Theodore (Teddy-Rough Rider) Roosevelt. It is said much of the excitement, with the big city newspaper reporters used to come up to Judge Parker's estate "Rosemont" at Esopus.

John Burroughs was a famous resident of the town, and his books are sought for today. His retreat, "Slabsides" preserved at West Park in nearly its original condition when Burroughs entertained such famous men as Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison and others.

With a number of Kingston residents recently moving to Port Ewen they may be interested in the history of the Town of Esopus with its nine small hamlets of Connelly, Esopus, New Salem, Rifton, St. Remy, Sleightsburgh, Ulster Park, Union Center and West Park, and the unincorporated village of Port Ewen where the antique show was held. Port Ewen traces its history to 1851, this little brochure explains, when the Pennsylvania Coal Company acquired a tract of land on the Hudson River from the Houghtaling family and established a port, naming it after the company president, John Ewen. It is said, in the last 15 years, Port Ewen's population increased by more than 50 per cent. No doubt the future holds a great deal of progress for the Town of Esopus and especially Port Ewen.

With Parliamentary Tactics

Sen. Morse Plans to Force Home Rule for D.C. in Open

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wayne Morse will put his recognized talent as a parliamentary tactician on the line in the Senate in the next few weeks, with the fate of home rule for the District of Columbia riding on the outcome.

The Oregon Democrat's plan is to force a vote on self-representation for Washington's 800,000 citizens by bypassing the House District of Columbia Committee, the burial ground for home rule legislation since World War II.

Was Almost Dead

Until Morse, one of the most persistent of home rule advocates, stepped into the breach, home rule appeared dead for this session of Congress.

Whether he can force passage may depend on how much support the White House gives him.

Early last September, the prospects for home rule appeared brighter than they had at any time since 1874, the year Congress substituted appointed commissioners for local government.

In response to a personal plea from President Johnson, a majority of House members had, by petition, forced the administration's home rule bill from the committee and brought it to the floor for a vote.

Johnson said the step presaged "victory in the final battle of the American Revolution." Home rule supporters were jubilant: The President's power of persuasion had carried the day again.

Adds LBJ

Said Joseph L. Rauh Jr., a leader of home rule lobbyists: "When I was a kid, it was always a sure thing when you bet on Joe Louis, the Yankees and Notre Dame. Now I'd add a fourth—LBJ."

By the end of the month the jubilation had turned to despair. While the administration bill would have given Washington a mayor and council, the House passed a substitute bill providing for a referendum on whether district residents want home rule.

There matters stood when Congress quit for the year and there they stood Sunday when Morse announced his plan at a home rule rally at the Washington Monument. The Senate and House were in sharp disagreement and the House District Committee, dominated by Southern conservatives, wouldn't even appoint conferees to try to resolve the differences.

Cites Reason

The fact that about 62 per cent of Washington's residents are Negroes undoubtedly has a lot to do with the failure of hundreds of home rule bills in past years.

There have been hints that continued failure may touch off an explosion. For example Marion Barry Jr., Washington head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, vowed last week: "We aren't going to be nice anymore in demanding changes because we're tired of that mess."

What Morse plans to do is to attach a modified version of the Senate-passed home rule bill to the administration's higher education bill, expected to clear the Senate Labor and Education Committee in a few weeks.

If the Senate approves the amendment, the bill would go to the House Education and Labor Committee, headed by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., who supports the Morse plan.

So far this year, Johnson has had little to say about home rule. He appealed for its enactment in his State of the Union message Jan. 12 and in submitting the district's budget to Congress Jan. 25 urged the House "to complete action" on the Senate-passed bill.

Home rule advocates are hoping he'll take a more active role before Congress goes home.

Questions and Answers

Q—What animal bears its young in litters all of one sex?

A—The peba, or nine-banded armadillo, bears its young in litters of four and invariably of the same sex.

* * *

Q—Do all species of birds turn their eggs regularly?

A—While turning the eggs seems almost universal, it is apparently not essential in all species. The palm swift of the South Pacific glues its eggs firmly to the nest as soon as they are laid.

Calls Controversial Law 'Medical Emancipation'

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Health Commissioner Hollis Ingraham described the state's new, controversial medical-aid law today as "medical emancipation."

Ingraham defended the program in remarks prepared for delivery at the annual summer conference of the state Federation of Women's Republican Clubs.

About 400 women representing 65,000 club-members were to attend the three - day session, which opened today.

Ingraham said the program aids those who are doing too well to qualify for welfare but perhaps not well enough to pay family medical bills.

"If the medically indigent man cannot pay all the medical care he requires, or his pregnant wife or his small children require," he asked, "is he not then actually an indigent person?"

He cited department statistics, saying officials have found in Upstate New York "pockets of low income people who have four and a half times as much tuberculosis, twice as high an infant death rate and twelve times as many complications of pregnancy as do people from higher income neighborhoods."

New York City statistics, Ingraham said, were similar, and the program seeks to "bridge the gap" between these people and proper medical care.

At the same time, he noted that federal aid to New York would be tripled under the new program. "This is refreshing," he said, for a state "that pays out to the federal government far more than it gets back in federal aid."

Ingraham said the state's participation under provisions of federal law was not automatic, and the enabling bill was before the Legislature for two months before it was approved on April 30.

As a result, he said:

"I do not know why the discussion and debate and, yes, the controversy did not begin to occur until after the bill had become law. It would have been better if they had occurred earlier."

He said the law extended an already existing medical assistance program, under which 5.5 million persons were eligible for public assistance, but only 1.5 million received it.

Applying the same percentage to the 8 million estimated eligible under the new program, he figured that nearly 2.2 million would have their medical bills paid by the state.

The previous program cost $449 million in combined federal and state funds last year, he said, and the new plan is estimated to cost about $532 million the first year.

Widespread criticism of eligibility standards had developed in Upstate areas after passage of the measure, but Ingraham noted that the financial standards were not part of the law "and were by no means rigid and inflexible."

He noted that the State Board of Social Welfare set, for example, a present standard of a net income of $6,000 for a family of four.

"This compares, by the way, with a previous state standard of $5,200 for hospital care and $4,700 for other medical care," under the earlier program, Ingraham said, so "there is not really" much difference.

He said the medical-aid law would lead to "first class medicine" in which "no one will be priced out of the medical care he needs."

Hervey, Becker Are Heartened by Support to Date

Conservative Party nominees, Jean Hervey for Congress and Frank E. Becker for New York State Senate, expressed gratification today at the upsurge of grass roots conservative support behind their standards.

Offers of financial and other types of assistance are being constantly received. A conservative club is established in Poughkeepsie, and volunteers are springing up from all political groups.

According to Hervey, "This support of true conservatives by members of the other parties is an encouraging sign that Americans are at long last becoming disgusted with the unkept promises and irresponsible antics of the big party spenders."

Two Occupants Hurt In Coxsackie Crash

When a car rolled over twice on the New York State Thruway in the Town of Coxsackie on Wednesday afternoon two of the occupants were taken to Greene County Memorial Hospital at Catskill by the Citizens Hose Ambulance of Catskill.

Treated and released were Nathaniel Silver, 21, of Palisade, N. J., driver who received scalp lacerations and Elaine Sutton, 16, of Brooklyn, a passenger, who received contusions of the right shoulder. The car was traveling south when the driver lost control and the car rolled over twice before coming to rest.

Board Appoints 4 Teachers; Approves Addition Sketches

Four teachers were elected upon the recommendation of Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, at the July 18 meeting of the Board of Education of the Saugerties Central School District. In the absence of Jack O. Pakanen, board president, Henry Breitenbach was elected chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. Natalie Straub, a graduate of Cortland High School holds a Bachelor of Science degree from Cornell University and a Master of Science degree from the University of Wisconsin. Mrs. Straub will teach in the elementary grades.

Miss Doris Ives, a graduate of Cattaragus High School holds a Bachelor of Science Degree from the State University College at Buffalo. Miss Ives has done graduate work at Hofstra College, Bank Street College and the State University Teachers College at New Paltz. She has had extensive experience in teaching in the schools of Ocean Beach, Naples and Lewiston, N. Y.; Salisbury and Alexandria, Va.; and on the Island of Guam. Miss Ives will teach in the elementary grades.

Mrs. Effie Scharff received her high school education in Toledo, Ohio. She holds a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from Bowling Green State University and a Master's degree from the State University of Iowa. She has had previous experience in the Maumee, Ohio junior high school. Mrs. Scharff will teach art in the elementary schools.

The Junior High School librarian will be Edmund McMahon, a native of Canada. McMahon graduated from the High School of Montreal and received a teacher's diploma from MacDonald College, a Bachelor of Arts degree from Sir George Williams University, and he will complete the requirements for a Master of Science degree at Syracuse University this summer. McMahon has had three years' experience in Canadian schools.

The Board accepted the resignation of Raymond Coombs who had been elected at the previous meeting to teach English in the Junior High School.

William Boice's resignation as a cleaner in the High School was accepted and Mrs. Fannie Falk was appointed typist at the Mt. Marion School and Mary Louise Campbell was appointed stenographer, Administration, both having completed civil service examinations.

Sketches for additions to the Mt. Marion and Glasco Schools were approved and Albert E. Milliken was authorized to proceed with preliminary drawings.

The superintendent and treasurer were authorized to accept low bids for air-conditioning and blacktopping within the limits of the budget. A milk bid for the Pine Knoll dairy was accepted at a low base rate of .0052 per half pint.

Year End Balance

Treasurer Gerald L. Snyder reported an end of the year balance as of June 30, of $156,483.40. The figure used at the time of budget preparation and adoption in May was $153,363.90.

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold reported that a letter from the State Education Department had been received complimenting Saugerties School District on an excellent job of budget preparation.

In reporting on the results of June Regents examinations, Dr. Arnold said that of all Regents examinations written, 89.6 per cent had been passed. A written report on 1966 graduates, by Senior High School principal, George G. Hamaty, indicated that "approximately 58 per cent of the class gained entrance to advanced education institutions. Of these, 41 per cent of the students were accepted at four-year colleges, 41 per cent of two-year colleges and nine others at various vocational and professional institutions.

"The increasing number of students applying to two-year institutions seems to reflect a trend which is in vogue nationally. The junior colleges seem to be filling a void created by a lack of space in four-year institutions and are providing quality education for many youngsters who otherwise would not go beyond high school in their educational careers," he said.

Reporting on summer school, Superinitendent, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold said that a total of 116 pupils are registered in four elementary schools. Twenty-nine at Main Street, 28 at Glasco, 29 at Mount Marion and 30 at Grant D. Morse. The High School summer school has registered 30 typing, 11 shorthand, 19 reading improvement, 32 in driver education and 14 elementary algebra, for a total of 106 to date. The four elementary summer schools are being supervised by Miss May Evans, Director of Pupil Personnel Services and principals, Patrick Buonfiglio, Grant D. Morse; Norman Bolinder, Main Street; Clarence Bryden, Glasco; and Ernest Blake, Mt. Marion. The High School studies are under the supervision of Senior High School principal, George G. Hamaty.

Rotarians Urge Early Purchase Of Circus Seats

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, president of the Saugerties Rotary Club, today warned area residents not to be alarmed if they see a herd of elephants in Saugerties on August 3.

"It'll be circus day in Saugerties," he explained. "We're bringing the 27th annual edition of Mills Bros. Three Ring Circus here on behalf of our reconstruction fund for the Old Sawyer Grist Mill.

"We decided to sponsor the circus because we feel there are thousands of children and young hearted adults, who will welcome an opportunity to see America's largest and greatest tented circus," he added.

"Also, we want to stress the fact that the Saugerties Rotary Club receives a high percentage of all advance tickets sold by our organization. When a member asks you to buy a group of tickets for your family, remember that you will save a substantial amount by getting your tickets before show day."

Mills Bros., acclaimed as one of the most outstanding circus performances in the world, promises two action packed showings here.

There'll be a herd of performing elephants, liberty horses, dogs, ponies, llamas and camels.

Newly imported acts scheduled to appear include aerialists, acrobats, jugglers, tumblers, contortionists, clowns, wire-walkers, perch-pole artists, trapeze stars, an Arabian Nights spectacle, lovely bareback riders, an aerial ballet, the traditional blaring circus band and all the spangled and sequined wonders that make a circus a world of magic.

Moser Attended Humanities Meet

Robert Moser, Junior High principal, of the Saugerties School System recently participated in a State sponsored Curriculum Conference concerned with a renewed emphasis on the humanities.

Convened at the State University of New York at Albany, from July 11-15, selected administrators heard keynoter, philosopher, Dr. Harry Broudy of Illinois University speak of the need for the humanities in our evolving culture.

Five days of intensive investigation and demonstration followed as experts from all parts of the country added their comments on developing the humanities.

The role of fostering creativity in the fine arts was examined in great detail by Dr. Arthur Young, who brought fresh insights in this activity to the almost 50 men and women who will finally direct curriculum activities in their schools.

The progress of an active high school philosophy offering in Illinois was described by Dr. Willis Moore of Southern Illinois University, a pioneer in bringing courses of this nature to the secondary schools.

An appointee of President Johnson, Dr. H. A. Moe spoke of the activities of the Federal Government in the humanities within the educational framework. He described the various programs developed and the governmental role in fostering the humanities.

William Clauss, of the New York State Department of Education discussed the status of the humanities in the schools of New York State at the present time.

Music, ballet rehearsal, drama direction, poetry and art demonstrations brought the whole range of the humanities into sharper appreciation for the conferees.

Baptist Church News

The regular midweek prayer service and Bible study will be held in the First Baptist Church of Saugerties at 7:30 o'clock this evening. The public is invited to attend this service.

On Sunday, Sunday School is held at 9:45 a. m., with classes for all ages. At 11 a. m. the morning worship service is held with the Rev. Brooks N. Henry, pastor, continuing a series of studies from the Gospel of Luke. At 6 p. m., the Berean Youth Fellowship will meet. This is a training hour for all junior and senior high school young people. At 7 p. m. the evening service is held with the pastor speaking on Daniel, A Type of Christ.

Matter of Fact

Acapulco has the best harbor on the Pacific coast of Mexico and one of the finest natural anchorages in the world. It is on a deep semicircular, almost landlocked bay. It is known as the "Riviera of Mexico." A favorite tourist attraction is watching spectacular dives into the sea from a high cliff by young boys who perform in return for a collection taken up from spectators.

Gotham Is Facing Engineer Strike For Next Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike by 1,200 operating engineers has been threatened for next Monday.

If the strike develops, it eventually could idle most of New York City's 200,000 construction workers and halt both public and private projects.

Contract negotiations between Local 14 of the AFL-CIO International Union of Operating Engineers and two employer associations broke down late Wednesday.

Local president Ralph Dalton, leading his team out of the negotiating room, said:

"The strike is on as of Monday morning. We have been left with no alternative."

Dalton qualified this later by saying:

"We have no further meetings scheduled, but we're willing to listen if they want to make a better offer."

No comment by the employers was available.

Local 14 mailed strike notice postcards to its members Wednesday night.

WILLIAM A. PEDERSEN

Airman Second Class William A. Pedersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. Pedersen of 1803 John F. Kennedy Memorial Buelevard, Jersey City, N. J., is now in Viet Nam in the fight against Communist aggression.

Airman Pedersen is an intelligence specialist in the Pacific Air Forces which provides offensive-defensive airpower for the U.S. and its allies in the Pacific, Far East and Southeast Asia.

The airman is a graduate of Henry Snyder High School.

His wife, Linda, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Sperl of R.D. 3, Saugerties.

On Missile Cruiser

Midshipman Third Class Robert W. Janda Jr., USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Janda of Sunset Garden Apts., Pine Place, Kingston, is undergoing a six-week summer training cruise aboard the nuclear powered guided missile cruiser USS Long Beach.

During the cruise the midshipmen gain first-hand experience in navigation, gunnery, operations, seamanship and other areas essential to the development of naval officers.

The Long Beach operates out of Long Beach, Calif., as a unit of the U.S. First Fleet.

Will Train Fisher

Airman Allan G. Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fisher of 227 Partition Street, Saugerties, has been selected for technical training at Chanute AFB, Ill., as a U. S. Air Force aircraft equipment repairman. The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. His new school is part of the Air Training Command which conducts hundreds of specialized courses to provide technically trained personnel for the nation's aerospace force. Airman Fisher attended Saugerties High School.

Tierney Ends Training

Airman Thomas M. Tierney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic M. Tierney of 61 Smith Avenue has been assigned to Ellsworth AFB, S. D., after completing Air Force basic training.

The airman, a 1962 graduate of Kingston High School, will be trained on the job as an administrative specialist with the Strategic Air Command.

Airman Tierney is a graduate of Albany Business College.

Airman Reenlists

Airman 1/c Kirk Eckert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eckert, Cedar Street, Rifton, recently became the first man at Loring AFB, Maine, to reenlist under the variable reenlistment bonus plan.

Eckert, a 1961 graduate of Kingston High School, will report for duty in Thailand after spending several weeks at home in Rifton.

Gets Montana Duty

Airman William G. Cure, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cure of Birch Creek Road, Pine Hill, has been assigned to Glasgow AFB, Mont., after completing Air Force basic training.

The airman, a 1965 graduate of Onteora Central High School, Boiceville, will be trained on the job as an air policeman with the Strategic Air Command.

Jeszeck Graduates

Quartermaster Seaman Apprentice John Jeszeck, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Jeszeck of Wawarsing, has graduated from Basic Quartermaster School at the Fleet Training Center, Newport, R. I.

The six-week curriculum included the basics of navigation, rules of the nautical road, and recgnition of the basic families of clouds and their symbols.

Trains in Air Police

Airman Robert Tomaszewski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ladislaus Tomaszewski of 26 Navara Street has been selected for technical training at Lackland AFB, Tex., as a U. S. Air Force air policeman. The airman recently completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He was graduated from Kingston High School in 1962 and attended Ulster County Community College. His wife is the

2 Upstate Men Are Casualties In Viet Conflict

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Marine from Gloversville, N.Y., who just had recovered from previous wounds, and a soldier from Rochester, who had received an award for exellence in basic training, are dead in Viet Nam.

The Defense Department in Washington said Wednesday that Marine Cpl. Orson Case, 25, was killed last Friday in a helicopter crash in Quang Tri Province.

The department also reported that Army Pfc. Donald J. Priest, 23, was killed Monday while on a reconnaissance patrol with the 1st Infantry Division.

Case, a veteran of eight years in the corps, was sent to Viet Nam last month and had just returned to active duty after recovering from wounds suffered two weeks ago.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Case of Johnstown, he also leaves his widow, Nancy, and their daughter, Suzanne Marie, six months.

Priest was a demolitions and reconnaissance specialist with the division's 2nd Infantry Regiment and had been in the Southeast Asian nation for six months.

Priest, son of Mrs. Russell Attili, was born in Canton and later moved to Rochester. He was a graduate of Benjamin Franklin High School and had attended the Rochester Institute of Technology. Priest enlisted in August, 1965.

Britons Hitching Up Belts Anew

LONDON (AP) — Britons hitched up their belts another notch or two today and moved into a period of economic hardship as austere as any they have faced since World War II. There were doubts the new austerity program had gone far enough but some unions rebelled.

The principal reason for the economic recession deliberately set in motion by their government — the defense of the pound sterling in world money markets — was complex and confusing to the man in the street. But he will be hit by higher sales taxes, tighter curbs on consumer credit and a freeze on any increase in wages, prices or dividends.

The austerity program, announced in Parliament Wednesday by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, also chopped $2 billion off government spending, much of it in foreign aid and maintenance of British armed forces in Western Europe and east of Suez.

Y Ladies Health Club Sets Picnic Sunday at Camp

The YMCA Ladies Health Club has scheduled a picnic for all Health Club members and their families Sunday, July 24, at the YMCA's Day camp in Shokan. The plan includes arrival at the camp around lunch time with each family bringing its own food.

The idea for the Ladies Health Club picnic came from a suggestion from one of the more active members, Mrs. Mickey Bruckner, who thought it would be a good idea for the ladies who participate in the morning group to have an opportunity to get to know the members of the evening groups and to enjoy a day together with their families.

Dave Peterson, YMCA Physical Director, said that the evenings groups consist mainly of working women while the morning groups are made up of primarily housewives. The Ladies Health Club groups meet at the YMCA Tuesday and Thursday mornings and Tuesday and Friday nights.

Peterson also reported that there is a special youth trip planned for all boy and girl YMCA members which will take place Thursday. The trip will take the YMCA youth to Baird State Park for a day of swimming, roller skating, softball, croquet, archery, shuffleboard and other games. The charter bus will leave the YMCA at 9 a. m. and return at 5 p. m.

The YMCA Board of Directors recently took action to change its charter from the YMCA of Kingston, New York to The YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County. An agency of the Ulster County Community Chest, the YMCA welcomes participants in its program from throughout the County.

Pickets Remain At Hucktrol, Pay Given for Work

This was regular payday at Hucktrol Inc., 85 Grand Street, and although picketing continued by employes who are members of Lodge 1562, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, AFL-CIO, they were paid for days worked last week, management reported.

William Hayman, union president, said earlier this week that the strike was called because employes want consideration of seniority rights in the transfer of them from one job to another and because a company offer made last Friday was rejected.

Management claims that its agreement with employes has been "clearly defined" and that "plant personnel has no contractual right to strike."

A subsidiary of the Huck Manufacturing Co., Detroit Mich., the plant makes tools for it and has a personnel of about 175. Nothing resulted of an exchange of telegrams Wednesday in which both the union and management said they were willing to meet for discussion.

Bogle Sizzles in State Golf Meet

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — The hottest player in the field Bill Bogle, of Poughkeepsie, and one of the youngest, 17-year-old Nick Raasch of Fayetteville, led the way in the the fourth round of the New York State Amateur Golf Tournament today.

Bogle, the medalist from the Poughkeepsie area, defeated John Babuka of Binghamton, 5 and 3, in a third round match over the 7,200-yard, par 36-36—72 Concord Hotel course.

Raasch, the long-hitting state junior champion, had a little harder time in his match with Robert Banazek of Syracuse, but he posted a 2 and 1 victory.

Raasch met Bogle in the fourth round in the afternoon. Bogle had the largest margins of the first two rounds as he posted successive triumphs by 8 and 7 and 7 and 6 margins.

The field of 32 was reduced to 16 by the morning third round. The afternoon round will chop it down to the quarter-finals of eight. Another double round Friday will leave only the two finalists who will meet in a 36-hole match for the title Saturday.

UR Agency Urges Curbing Hostility

tive with the Common Council. Yet, in truth and fact, while we may be kicked around by the Common Council, we are not puppets of the Common Council nor answerable to it for our every thought and deed. We think it is high time that the members of the Common Council took time to read the Urban Renewal statutes and particularly section 554 of the General Municipal Law and learn just what are the powers of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency.

We recognize that the members of the Common Council are elected by their constituents and have great wisdom in solving all city problems. Ours is not a high and mighty attitude and we welcome the opportunity to work with them on the problems of urban renewal in a give-and-take cooperative attitude. We realize that we are fallible and may make mistakes and the discretion we exercise may be exercised in other ways. We know that there are many problems of urban renewal that still exist, are difficult of solution and in which the help of everyone is needed.

For the past several months we have been bombarded by Alderman Gallo of the Ninth Ward by pseudo-socratic questions. The innuendo of the questions is that the agency is acting wrongfully and incompetently and perpetrating secret and sinister deeds in the darkness of night. Alderman Gallo casts himself in the role of the heroic boy putting his finger in the dike to stop the inundation of the city with waste, extravagance and bumbling incompetence on the part of the agency.

Copy of Reply

Attached herewith is a copy of a reply to questions to the agency initially propounded by Alderman Gallo.

The Agency is today in receipt of a demand from Alderman Gallo that he be furnished with the names and addresses of all on our payroll; the salary per week; the increments forth-coming and the pay raises contemplated in the next year. We feel that the time has come to call a halt to the nonsense of Alderman Gallo.

Under subdivision 7 of section 554 of the General Municipal Law the agency has the power "to appoint officers, agents, and employes, prescribe their duties, fix their compensation and delegate to one or more of such officers, agents or employes such duties as it may deem proper".

Why does Alderman Gallo single out our employes as third class citizens and alone of all city employes have their salaries publicized? It certainly has never been city policy to publish the salary of all city employes. They are not published. If they were we might feel differently with respect to part of his request.

Notes Budget Duties

An opinion of counsel to the agency states:

In regard to the question of individual salaries of staff members and employes, I am of the opinion that such matters are confidential and need not be publicly disclosed. Although, I should add that the items appropriated in the budget for various categories is set forth in the urban renewal plans.

"Most of the funds being spent by us are Federal and State funds. The general budget of the agency is on file in the city clerk's office and it is our duty to operate within that budget. Any deviations from the budget must be federally approved. No consent of the Common Council is required.

Because we believe our employes should not be embarrassed by a publication of what they earn does not lead to the irresistible conclusion that we are ashamed or embarrassed by what we pay them. Just as it is none of our business when the members of the Common Council recently considered voting themselves a raise, so too it is none of their business what our employes receive and whether we give our empolyes a raise in the next year.

Calls for Change

It is high time that a few of the members of the Common Council cease and desist from endeavoring to prove that they are all-wise and the members of the Urban Renewal Agency are fools and incompetents. We should all work together to solve the difficult problems of urban renewal without the hostility that is so manifest.

Question, Answer Report

Quesion and answer report of the agency:

Question No. 1 — How much money has been paid to Raymond & May Associates since the very conception of urban renewal here in our city to the present day?

Answer — Broadway East Urban Renewal Project; The City of Kingston, as the local public agency, contracted for the services of Raymond & May Associates in connection with the Broadway East Urbany Renewal project on Feb. 6, 1962. The contract, on file in the city clerk's office, was signed by Mayor John J. Schwenk. The scope of services dealt with assisting the local public agency in preparing an application for a loan and grant, and in providing plans and documentation in connection with the project. The compensation was $40,200, which was paid in full. In addition, Raymond & May was paid $3,130 for preparing a revised survey and planning application under a contract dated June 5, 1965, as amended June 29, 1965. Also Raymond & May was paid $5,000 for a model of the Broadway East project under a contract dated June 28, 1963.

Uptown Urban Renewal Project: Also, the City of Kingston as the local public agency contracted for the services of Raymond & May Associates in connection with the Uptown urban renewal project on September 12, 1962. The compensation was $41,800, which has been paid in full. This contract, signed by Mayor John J. Schwenk, dealt with assisting the local public agency in preparing an application for a Loan & Grant and necessary plans and documentation for the Uptown urban renewal project. Additional sums were paid under new and amended contracts regarding the Uptown project of $745, and $9,300.

Total payments to Raymond & May regarding Uptown Project:

	745
	9,300
Total	$51,845

Rondout General Neighborhood Renewal Plan Study: A contract dated August 16, 1960 between the City of Kingston and Raymond & May associates provided for a Rondout General Neighborhood Plan Study. Compensation under this contract to Raymond & May Associates was $28,900. Which has been paid in full. The contract was signed by Mayor Edwin Radel.

Grand total of payments to Raymond & May Asociates

Broadway East	$48,330
Uptown Project	51,845
Rondout GNRP	28,900
Grand Total	$129,075

Question No. 1 (b)—what are the costs anticipated for this firm from the present day?

Answer; The Agency presently has Raymond & May Associates under an annual retainer contract for each project. Payments, to date, under these contracts are for work actually performed and are reflected in the figures above. Future payments will, of course, be dependent on work required and performed under the contracts.

Question No. 2 (a)—What is the weekly payroll or pay period total payroll for all employed with Urban Renewal here in Kingston?

$1,653 Weekly Payroll

Answer: The weekly gross payroll is $1,653.46.

Question No. 2 (b)—How much help is employed by the Urban Renewal Agency?

Answer: The Agency has a total staff of 15 persons.

Question No. 3—What was the actual demolition bid?

Answer: Eight bids were received in connection with the 1st Broadway East demolition contract. The William M. Young & Co., Inc., Newark, N. J., was low bidder at $46,722.

Question No. 4—May any parcel of property that was in the original bid for demolition be withdrawn and if so what would the amount be deducted from the original bid?

Answer: A parcel may have been deleted from the demolition contract. In such a case, the amount deducted from the original bid would have depended on the property deleted. A breakdown of bids, on a parcel basis, was required.

"I trust the above information answers the questions that have been raised. Please advise if we can be of further assistance."

Reports Arm Injury

Eleanor Bigler, 39, of 925 Holly Springs Drive, Lexington, Ky., told of an injured right arm after a two-car mishap at Howland and Snyder Avenues reported at 7:15 p. m. Wednesday, and was treated by a doctor. She rode in a car driven by John Bigler, 43, of the same address, police said, and the other car was driven by Mary L. Gold, 33, of 30 Beckert Street. Officer Thomas Coffey investigated.

Why We Say--

GUN POWDER: When we say that something is a "flash in the pan" we mean that it starts off well but doesn't work out. The allusion is to the old-fashioned gun that had to be ignited by setting a spark to the powder in a pan. Sometimes the gun didn't go off, resulting in just a flash in the pan.

Terms Position On River Valley As Encouraging

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, D-N.Y., says the administration's position on his bill to facilitate conservation and orderly development of the Hudson River Valley is "very encouraging."

Ottinger said the measure has been endorsed by the Bureau of the Budget and that amendments proposed by Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall would provide "effective although not absolute" controls over construction of federal facilities in the valley.

Ottinger's bill is intended to avert the possibility of construction not in keeping with conservation of the valley while New York and New Jersey negotiate a permanent over-all program to preserve the Hudson's beauty and resources.

The bill would place in the hands of the secretary of the interior the authority to disapprove any projects proposed by federal agencies during that interim period.

44 Leave Tower

LONDON (AP) — Forty-four crewmen were taken off an American tower rig drilling for natural gas in the North Sea.

A spokesman for Amoco, owners of the rig, said today mechanical trouble had developed in machinery at the top of one of the legs. Ten key men are staying on the rig.

New Laws Explained

By Congressman

Joseph Y. Resnick

The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 set the first national minimum wage at 25 cents an hour. It also required employes to be paid time and one-half for work in excess of 40 hours a week, and prohibited inter-state shipment of goods produced with child labor.

In 1949 the minimum wage was raised to 75 cents an hour, and in 1955 it was further increased to $1 an hour. The 1961 amendments to the Act increased the minimum wage to $1.25, mostly in the retail trades.

Some Mean Less Today

Today 29.6 million of the 60 million wage and salary workers in the U. S. are covered by Federal minimum wage legislation. The objective of the 1938 Act was to improve living conditions by eliminating the sub-standard working conditions as rapidly as possible. Over the years the Act has not kept pace with our advancing economy, and some of its guarantees mean less today than they did 28 years ago.

Today it is possible for fully employed people to be living in abject poverty. Not only is it possible, it is actually happening. At a $1.25 an hour (the present legal minimum wage) a full-time job will bring only $2,600 a year —far below the poverty level. For many of the poverty-stricken the problem is not unemployment, but employment with inadequate pay. Among family heads employed in industries covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act, only 5 to 10 per cent had annual incomes under $3,000 in 1963. In industries where there is no coverage, 49 per cent had annual incomes under $3,000.

In 1963, President Kennedy requested extension of the MinimumWage Law to provide coverage for additional workers. President Johnson, in 1964 and 1965, requested similar extensions. Hearings were held on the Administration's proposals in 1963, 1964, and 1965. Obviously, no hasty decisions were being made.

In August 1965 a bill was favorably reported by the House Committee, and on May 23 I had the opportunity to redeem a campaign pledge I made in 1964, by voting for the passage of this bill. The bill is now awaiting Senate action.

In summary, the bill passed by the House increases the present $1.25 an hour non-farm minimum wage by stages to $1.60, and extends the minimum wage coverage to an additional 8 million employes, including certain agricultural workers. Equally important, the bill also extends overtime protection to certain employes not previously covered, and establishes a minimum wage of $1 an hour for newly covered farm workers, to be increased in steps to $ 1.30.

Major Provision — Minimum Wage. Extends federal minimum wage protection to an estimated eight million nonprofessional employes not covered by minimum wage requirements under existing law. Makes the new coverage effective in two steps: Feb. 1, 1967, and Feb. 1, 1969.

1967 Coverage. Provides expanded coverage in three ways: Extends protection to employes in the following previously covered business or other enterprises if the firm or organization has gross sales or business of $500,000 or more annually: retailing including auto, truck and farm implement dealerships; transit and taxicab systems; almost all restaurants and food service establishments; logging agriculture (workers employed by farmers who use more than 500-man-days of agricultural labor in any calendar quarter of the preceding year — roughly equivalent to the use of seven full-time workers); agricultural processing; hotels and motels; certain employes of the Federal Government and federal service contract employes.

Lowers the sales volume test in existing law to provide that business or enterprises currently covered by the law are subject to the wage requirements, if they have gross sales or business of $500,000 or more annually.

Makes minimum wage coverage applicable to employes in the following categories, regardless of the business or sales volume of the organization: Laundries, drycleaning establishments, clothing or fabric repair shops; construction firms; hospitals and related institutions; elementary and secondary schools (nonprofessional employes); and colleges, universities, and similar higher-education schools (nonprofessional employes).

1969 Coverage

1969 Coverage: Further lowers the sales volume test to provide that businesses or enterprises covered by the law would be subject to minimum wage requirements if they have gross sales or business of $250,000 or more annually. (Certain enterprise, such as laundries and hospitals continue to be covered regardless of sales volume).

"Mom and Pop" Establishments: Stipulates that strictly family-run enterprises are to remain exempt from coverage regardless of the volume of business or other criteria.

Employment of Youth: Permits employment of persons under 21 years of age during the first six weeks of full time employment at 75 per cent of the applicable minimum wage.

Exemptions From Agricultural Wage Floor: Exempts from the agricultural wage floor workers otherwise covered who: are employed as hand harvest workers on a piece meal basis; had been employed for less than 13 weeks during the preceding year in agriculture; and commute daily from their permanent residence to the farm on which they are employed. Also exempts workers covered under the minimum wage provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948.

Wage Rate: Increases the federal minimum wage from the existing $1.25 per hour to the level specified in the following table:

Employes	Hourly Rate	Effective Date
Presently covered (29,600,000)	$1.40	Feb. 1, 1967
	1.60	Feb. 1, 1969
Newly covered:
Non-farm (6,993,000)	1.00	Feb. 1, 1967
	1.15	Feb. 1, 1968
	1.30	Feb. 1, 1969
	1.45	Feb. 1, 1970
	1.60	Feb. 1, 1971
Agriculture (370,000)	1.00	Feb. 1, 1967
	1.15	Feb. 1, 1968
	1.30	Feb. 1, 1969
Federal employes (665,000)	1.40	Feb. 1, 1967
	1.60	Feb. 1, 1969
Federal service contract (number undetermined)	1.40	Feb. 1, 1967
	1.60	Feb. 1, 1969

Tipped Employes. Provides that the minimum wage rates would be reduced for tipped employes by an amount representing all or a portion of tips received. Specifies that in no case can an employer credit tips (in order to reduce the actual wages he had to pay) in an amount larger than 45 per cent of the prevailing minimum wage. (The restriction meant that an employer has to pay at least 55 per cent of the prevailing minimum wage regardless of how much an employe earns in tips.)

Overtime. Extends overtime protection of the FLSA to the same categories of employment provided new minimum wage coverage, with the exception of retail auto, truck, trailer and farm implement salesmen, mechanics and partsmen operating employes of transit and taxicab systems; farm workers; and employes of restaurants, food service establishments, hotels and motels. Also provides one annual 14-week exemption for canneries beginning Feb. 1, 1967, concurrently with the effective dates of the expanded minimum wage coverage.

Hour Limitation. Stipulates that newly covered employes are to receive compensation at not less than one and one-half times the regular rate for hours of employment in excess of 44 hours a week as of Feb. 1, 1967; in excess of 42 hours as of Feb. 1, 1968; and 40 hours as of Feb. 1, 1969.

Emergency Landing

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A detoured airliner carrying 38 persons made a dramatic emergency landing in a shower of sparks early today on a foam-covered runway.

Fire engines, ambulances and crash vehicles raced down the runway as the Braniff turbojet skidded in the foam and spun into a grassy field at Carswell Air Force Base.

Airline officials said the 33 passengers and five crew members, on Flight 133 from Chicago to Houston, all escaped injury.

In Memoriam

Our children had the privilege of learning in the classroom of the late Mrs. M. Isabel Flynn Rhinehart.

We would like to take this opportunity to mention again the great contribution that this fine woman made to this community for thirty-five (35) years.

The many children that learned to read their first words in her classroom hold dear their memories of this teacher. Our community has lost a dedicated member who gave unstintingly of her time and knowledge.

Her passing has not gone unnoticed. May she rest in peace.

Six Girl Scouts Scale Mt. Marcy

Christine Lake and Christine Richter of Kingston were among the six senior Girl Scouts from Ulster County who returned recently from a back packing trip to Mt. Marcy in the Adirondacks. The other hikers included Louise Williams from Woodstock, Terese Shekitka from Mt. Tremper and Karen Holiday and Susan Davidson from New Paltz.

The girls carried thei tents, sleeping bags, and other equipment two miles along a hilly trail to the foot of Mt. Marcy, where they set up camp for the night. The following morning, after a breakfast of bacon and eggs cooked in a paper bag, they set off for the top of Mt. Marcy.

After a steep five-mile climb, the girls reached the summit. Since Mt. Marcy i. the highest mountain in New York State (elevation 5,344 feet above sea level), the scouts had a breathtaking view in all directions of the tops of other mountains. The Indians called Mt. Marcy by the name Tahawus, the cloud splitter.

The girls returned to their camp the same day, and left for their homes the next morning. They were accompanied on the trip by Mrs. David C. Birch, advisor to the senior girl scout planning board for Ulster County Council.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Scrap Materials Needed at Field

The Arts and Crafts Building at the Woodstock Recreation Field has been buzzing with activity for the past two weeks, since the official opening of the summer program. Youngsters have been experimenting with plaster casting, clay, paints and copper enameling.

In an effort to provide interesting activities for those participating, field personnel has issued an appeal for contributions from local residents. Scrap materials needed include plastic detergent or bleach bottles, TV dinner trays, old light bulbs, newspapers, Christmas and birthday cards, yarn, clean baby food jars with tops, egg cartons, buttons and magazines. Also needed are jewelry, string, wire, thread, sewing needles, clay, paint, old sponges, cigar boxes, paper cups, straws and anything else residents might have around the house which they think could be useful in the program.

Materials to be donated should be brought to the recreation field on Rock City Road during the playground hours, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday.

With business booming in the arts and crafts program, director Mrs. Elaine Fineran has found is necessary to draw up a schedule of classes in order to eliminate overcrowding. The schedule follows:

9 to 10 a. m.—all five and six year olds; 10 to 11 a. m. — all seven eight and nine year olds; 11 a. m. to 12 noon—all 10, 11 and 12 years olds.

Warren Wilson, brilliant young musical director of Turnau Opera Players who returned recently from the Tchaikovsky competitions in Moscow, has been asked to serve on the National Screening Committee of the Institute of International Education.

The Institute is the agency designated by the U.S. Department of State to conduct annual competitions for awards for graduate study and research abroad under the Fulbright-Hays Act.

Wilson has been musical director for Turnau, now in residence for the summer here, for the past two years.

Blanch Praises Bush Exhibition

Arnold Blanch, recognized locally as the dean of Woodstock artists, has penned the following review on the current exhibition of works by Clare Bush, a former Blanch student at the Art Students League, now being shown at the Maverick Gallery here:

Within the curious culture of our time we find that there apparently are quantities of talent. But within these quantities we find ourselves searching for a quantity or the quality of a particular talent.

In using the word talent we are accepting the usual definition meaning natural endowments and aptitudes.

Most teachers of art will agree that one of the most difficult problems in teaching is to impress the already talented student with the importance of scope and growth; and when a former student develops scope and growth within the realm of his particular personality a teacher will then feel there has been accomplishment. Clare Bush, a painter now exhibiting a series of drawings at the Maverick Gallery on Chestnut Hill Road is such a former student of mine.

Termed Unusual

This very unusual exhibition differs from most exhibitions in that the exhibition itself becomes a work of art as well as each group of related drawings.

In entering the exhibition we find we are not faced with the usual melange of works all shouting for our attention; but instead a peaceful silence, an almost cathedral like silence.

In the Maverick Gallery we have been accustomed to the clicking on and off of kinetic art. It is now a relief to feel the empathy of the loneness of the artist. And in these reflections of landscapes we may identify the qualities of loneness that at times we have experienced. In all works of art we find our own experiences but the artist makes them an intense reality.

The drawings in this exhibition are the drawings of a painter, in which color and shape and tonality become one. Although some of the drawings may seem brief and understated they are never without sensitivity and tension and an intimacy with nature.

Within the exhibition as a whole as in individual drawings we find Miss Bush has expanded her consciousness of the nature of herself and the nature of art eastward as well as westward.

Seeing this exhibition is an important experience.

Around the Town

Woodstock getting Statewide publicity in the New York Telephone Company's "Home News" bulletin. The latest edition of the folder, mailed to millions of telephone users, is dedicated to New York and the Arts. Among cultural centers listed as a haven for art lovers is Woodstock with mention of the 18 local art galleries and opportunities to hear music, see drama and engage in crafts. Local Chamber of Commerce is listed as the source for information.

If Sarasota, Florida is sometimes considered the official winter colony for many Woodstockers, Newport, Rhode Island, must be fast becoming asummer vacation resort for other residents. In Newport for the summer are Mrs. John (Jackie) Majoros and children. Ending a vacation there this coming weekend will be Dr. Edmund J. Tomaselli, his wife and children. In addition, both Mrs. Majoros and the Tomaselli's attended the Metropolitan Opera's performance of Carmen at the Newport Opera Festival last week, which starred Shirley Love, who has appeared often with Turnau here, as Mercedes.

Mrs. Kevin (Linda) Sweeney and daughters, Shannon and Susan, back home in Woodstock after enjoying a two weeks vavation trip to Maine.

White Designs Heads

Those new mastheads which recently made their appearances on the newstands on the Woodstock Record Press, The Kingstonian and The Saugerties Post were designed by Bearsville artist and Onteora art faculty member Ken White.

A sports event, the like of which has not been seen in Woodstock in many a moon, will take place in the near future at the Woodstock Estates Swim and Tennis Club. Mrs. Chris Morris, manager of the club, is arranging an exhibition match between two superb professional tennis players, Hugh McLaughlin and Nat Schulman, both members of the U. S. Professional Lawn Tennis Association. More details as to time later.

The Allen Bernards returned home this week after a month abroad. Business and vacation trip took them to Austria, Holland, Czechoslovakia and Russia, among other places.

USCO in Armor

Woodstock's USCO group of artists, many of whom are involved in the operation of the Maverick Gallery here, are so desirous of anonymity that several of the group, representing the organization on a recent telecast of the Today Show, wore suits of medieval armor to camouflage their identies in front of the camera. They were appearing on the show to discuss their Riverside Museum show in New York City.

Rumor has it that if that contemplated sale of property by the City of Kingston to the Arts Students League here goes through as hopefully scheduled, the League will remain open locally for eight months of the year. Property involved in the possible sale includes that already used as a summer campus by the League in Woodstock.

Turnau Offering Kingston Shows

Final plans to bring Turnau Opera to area campers for an extremely low price per ticket have been made for two matinee performances at 2 p. m., both to be held at the George Washington School in Kingston. The first will be "The Marriage of Figaro" on July 26 and the second will be "The Barber of Seville" on August 12. This offer is open to all camps and youth organizations in the area and, also, to parents who might wish to bring their children, with ticket prices for parents only slightly higher.

The Turnau management has advised many camps of the offer by letter. Camps which have not received a letter may write Turnau Opera, Woodstock, or phone the box office, indicating how many youngsters expect to attend in order that seats may be reserved.

Turnau feels this is a splendid opportunity for young people to enter the colorful world of opera, which is a feast for the eye as well as the ear. The opera company has noted a number of young people at its evening performances in Woodstock which indicates, they feel, that there is appeal to this age group for this type of music as well as the folk singing and modern rock and roll that is usually associated with the younger generation.

Annual Dog Show Booked at Field

An annual event which never fails to generate excitement among Woodstock's younger generation will again take place at the Andy Lee Memorial Field here on Monday, August 1, at 2 p. m. That's the date when the yearly KEN-L-Ration Kids Dog Show will be held this season.

Any local youngster between the ages of five and 12 years of age, inclusive, may enter his or her dog in as many as three of the following classes: best costumed dog; best trick dog; smallest dog; largest dog; and best groomed dog.

Everyone emerges a winner since all entrants will receive a can of dog food, dog indentification button, a special tag and a dog training book. Prizes will be awarded for first, second and third place winners in each class. Winners will receive a small trophy cup, a colorful T-shirt and a leash for their pet. First place winners in each category are eligible to compete in the "Best of Show" judging.

Rules require that all entrants must handle the dogs themselves and all dogs must be on a leash. Entry blanks may be obtained from John Stefano, director of the summer program at the local field, at any time prior to the date of the Dog Show. The only restriction is that dogs entered in the smallest dog class must be over six months old.

Pit Moms-Kids For Ballgames

More than 220 local youngsters have been registered to date in the general program of summer recreation at Woodstock's Andy Lee Memorial Field, Rock City Road.

Field director John Stefano reminded parents this week that any child from five to 12 years old, residing in the Town of Woodstock, may participate in the program. As usual, there is no charge for this town sponsored program and there is no restriction as to the number of registrants.

Arts and crafts—9 a. m. to 12 noon; swimming lessons—9:30 a. m. to 12 noon; field activities—9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; free swim—1 p. m. to 4:30 p. m.

Stefano also announced that the winner of the first horseshoe tournament conducted this season was Larry Panella.

An upcoming event which should prove good watching fun for the general public is the match between mothers and youngsters, scheduled for Tuesday, August 2 at 2 p. m. The two groups will compete against each other in three innings of kickball and three innings of softball. As an extra added incentive to encourage mothers to come out and play, Stefano said all mothers are welcome to participate and enjoy the pool after the activity.

Teeners Granted Use of Rec Pool

Woodstock teenagers, who have long bemoaned the fact that the town provides few swimming facilities for their age group, may now utilize the pool at the Andy Lee Memorial Field, Rock City Road, during specified hours of the day.

Under a new setup at the field this year, all local teenagers may swim at the pool from 12 noon to 1 p. m. and from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. daily from Monday to Friday.

In addition, all field activities are open to teenagers from 12 noon to 5 p. m. daily, including sports and games of all types.

Re-Election Unit For Resnick Sets Po'keepsie Date

The newly-formed Committee for the Re-Election of Congressman Joe Resnick invites all the residents of the 28th District to the opening of their headquarters at 53 Market Street on July 29 at 5:30 p. m.

The committee indicated that the headquarters will be launched with an open-house which will include bands, dancing, and refreshments. Public officials from the entire 28th District as well as many from outside the area are expected.

A spokesman for the committee, Bruce I. Oppenheimer, said "we want to make sure that everyone knows we're in business and raring to go!"

Congressman Resnick said, "I'm really looking forward to this opening." It will give me the opportunity to say hello once again in person to all my friends new and old in the 28th district."

Oppenheimer also indicated that while Poughkeepsie was the central headquarters it was planned that other committee headquarters would be opened up in Kingston, Hudson, Beacon, Catskill, and Ellenville in the near future. Oppenheimer stressed that this particular committee was basically non-partisan and would welcome anyone who felt as they did that Congressman Resnick had done a good job and deserved to be re-elected. He further said that there were many Republicans as well as Democrats and Independents who have shown an interest in the committee.

Jerry Loses Yacht

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Jerry Lewis' new $350,000 yacht is a casualty of the rocky Pacific Coast of California's Monterey County.

Lewis, 40, and four companions escaped injury Tuesday when a leak sent sea water pouring into the 65-foot yacht "Pussycat," en route from San Francisco at San Diego.

Reds Say Purge 'Just Begun' in Peking Circles

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party disclosed this week that the wide-ranging purge of writers, artists, cultural chiefs, party officials and military men has "just begun."

Mao Tze-tung's disciples made clear in two long articles in the Peking People's Daily that the purge — described as "a great proletarian cultural revolution" — is in full cry and far from ended.

The articles, distributed serially for the past four days by the New China News Agency, dealt in depth with the purges of the past and attacked Chou Yang, former dictator of literature and art, as "a black-hearted, nasty character" whose "gang of monsters and devils" plotted to seize power from Mao.

The People's Daily said the present cultural revolution is the sixth — and most profound — stage of a socialist struggle in China that has been continuing since the Communists took control of the country in 1949.

"This great proletarian cultural revolution has in fact just begun," it said, "but it has already shown its great and far-reaching significance."

The 10,000-word article attacking Chou Yang also confirmed that the purge is continuing.

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS CARRY NO OBLIGATION

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter and her husband are expecting their first baby and are very excited. They want to tell everyone about it, so she has bought loads of announcements. A friend, seeing my daughter addressing the announcements, remarked, "You certainly don't expect all those people to come through with gifts, do you?" My daughter told her of course she didn't expect gifts; they just wanted everyone to know their baby was here. Now my daughter is unsure. Should she send them or not?—Grandma-in-Waiting.

Dear Grandma-in-Waiting: A birth announcement carries no obligation to send a gift and your daughter may send just as many as she wishes. Good luck to her and the new baby.

Shower Guests Chosen From Wedding List

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married the end of August. Last week a shower was given for her. I have been told that I must invite all the shower guests to the wedding. Is this absolutely necessary?—Ruth.

Rear Ruth: If the guests were not close enough to you to have been included on your wedding list, they should not have been invited to the shower. But since they came, and brought gifts, they should be asked at least to the wedding ceremony. It was the responsibility of the hostess at the shower to find out if the guests were to be included at the wedding.

Get on With the Game

Dear Mrs. Post: Do you feel it is necessary for people to discuss each hand when playing bridge? —Eileen F.

Dear Eileen: Three cheers for you for bringing up the subject! People who rehash every hand should be exiled for good. Just say politely but firmly, "Well that was that hand, shall we deal the next?"

Details concerning the announcement of an engagement are described in the booklet, "Announcing the Engagement." To get a copy, send a dime and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Wells-Daley Vows Are Exchanged Here In July 16 Ceremony at St. Joseph's

Vows of marriage were exchanged Saturday, July 16 between Miss Jo Ann Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wells of 209 Greenkill Avenue and Corporal Frank A. Daley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Daley of 23 West Union Street.

The Rev. John Mulligan, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church officiated at the double ring ceremony. Rose McDonough was soloist and James Sweeney, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of silk sheer posed over taffeta with scooped neckline, fitted empire bodice and A-line skirt, which was of floor length and featured a detachable court train. A veil of triple tiered silk illusion was shirred to a coronet of crystals and pearls.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Grace Wells. She wore an empire gown of chiffon in floor length with matching picture hat. She carried violets.

Bridesmaids included the bridegroom's sisters, Mickey and Darlene Daley; Catherine Andrews, 44 Derrenbacher Street and Karen Lane of 170 Ten Broeck Avenue. Their gowns were identical to that of the honor attendant. They were in gold, peacock, yellow and hot pink.

Best man was Charles Daley Jr., the bridegroom's brother. Ushers included Richard Wells Jr., the bride's brother; Kenneth Wisner, Port Ewen; the bridegroom's cousin; John Brady, 136 Jansen Avenue and James Mazzara, 154 West Pierpont Street. David Andrews was ringbearer.

A reception was held at Maennerchor Hall on Greenkill Avenue, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Cape Cod.

Find Two Bodies Of Missing Girls Near Rochester

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Two teen-aged girls, clad only in bathing suits, were stabbed fatally before their bodies were left in a "lover's lane" section of suburban Chili, authorities say.

Their decomposed bodies were found Wednesday by a farmer whose identity has not been disclosed by Monroe County Sheriff Albert Skinner.

The girls were identified as Catherine Ann Bernhard, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bernhard, and George Ann Formicola, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Formicola, both of Chili.

Last Seen June 25

The girls were last seen the evening of June 25 when they left the Bernhard girl's home to go swimming in Black Creek in Chili. They had been swimming there earlier, sheriff's deputies said.

Dr. Robert Greendyke, county medical examiner, said Wednesday night that autopsies on the bodies of both girls showed they had been stabbed a total of 20 times and that the wounds were the cause of death for both of them.

"Those girls were obviously murdered," Greendyke said.

He said he believed the same instrument was used in both stabbings.

Greendyke said the bodies will be examined to determine whether the girls had been sexually molested.

In Clump of Bushes

The farmer found the bodies in a clump of bushes about two miles from the creek and four miles from the girls' homes. The teen-agers must have been taken to the site in an automobile because of the distance from the creek, deputies said.

The Bernhard girl's body was still clad in a bathing suit, but the Formicola girl only had the top of her suit on. The bottom was found nearby.

Both girls had attended Wheatland-Chili Central School.

Deputies had been pressing the search for them since their disappearance. Some items had been found earlier near the creek, such as the Bernhard girl's transistor radio.

Student Art Works Are Now on Exhibit At Paltz College

Student art works selected through a broad range of styles and media have been placed on exhibit at the State University College, New Paltz, Art Gallery, this summer.

The annual Student Art Exhibit this year features work in jewelry, silver-smithing, ceramics, photography, weaving, and three dimensional design as well as in painting, sculpture, two-dimensional design, and drawing.

Welded steel and "op art" in the display vie for attention with chiseled limestone and traditional still-life paintings. The exhibit was arranged by Dr. Peter Bohan, Gallery director.

The dominant feature of the student collection is a four-piece group of life-size "Little Orphan Annies" each done in papier mache and crowned with a mop of orange hair. The figures wear red and white dresses and the vacant-eyed expression familiar to newspaper readers for several decades. One of the pieces carries an American flag in its hand-indicative of the comic strip character's true-blue Americanism—and another is mounted on roller skates, symbolic perhaps of "Annie's" extraordinary ability to get around.

Most of the works were created by future teachers of art in the schools of New York State.. The large majority of the State's art teachers graduate from New Paltz or the State University College at Buffalo which specialize in the field. In June, 82 students received their Bachelor of Science degree in art education from the college at New Paltz.

College Gallery hours during the summer are 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. weekdays and 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. Saturdays.

String Quartet Will Give Concert July 24

The Hudson Valley String Quartet will appear at the Storm King Art Center in Mountainville, July 24, at 3 p. m. in the second of four summer concerts presented by members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic.

The works to be performed include Haydn's String Quartet in G major, Prokofiev's Quartet in B minor and Beethoven's Quartet in B-flat major.

Past subscribers look forward to hearing the String Quartet this year with three new members. Luis Garcia-Renart, first cellist of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic and a prodigy of Pablo Casals, will join Jacob Glick on viola and Thomas Kornacker, second violin. And Alice Smiley, who has formed the String Quartet building it into an effective and polished unit, is also familiar to us as concertmaster of the Philharmonic.

The String Quartet has been praised by critics for its ability and unfamiliar works with the to play even the most difficult "utmost perfection." "Their performance is superb;" "their musicianship outstanding." One critic said, after a string quartet concert held in Poughkeepsie, "Poughkeepsie is luckier than it realizes."

The Storm King chamber music series has a listing of 25 patrons, sponsors and donors. Senator and Mrs. Thomas C. Desmond are an additional patron noted after the list has been published.

After the concert, one may view the exhibitions in the galleries. On display are drawings by 20th century American artists and retrospective exhibitions of works by Andree Ruellen and Sue Fuller.

Tickets may be obtained at the door, at the Highland Fling in Cornwall, or from committee members.

Other concert dates are August 14 featuring Robert Mumper at the piano and the Hudson Valley Woodwind Quintet, and August 28 with Huguette VanAckere on piano, Alice Smiley, violin, and Luis Garcia-Renart playing cello.

Adelaide Weston Is Exhibit Feature at Lake Minnewaska

An exhibit of paintings by Adelaide Weston is currently on exhibit in the Wildmere Library at Lake Minnewaska.

For 15 years, Mrs. Weston wrote poetry and enjoyed the publication of about 400 poems in newspapers, anthologies and poetry magazines. The same sense of image was transferred to the oils, which she now takes so much pleasure in creating — whenever she is not working at her position with IBM in Poughkeepsie.

Miss Weston has had a one-man show in the IBM Poughkeepsie Country Club, in the La Grangeville Art Depot and in various banks and restaurants. She has been included in group shows in Kent, Conn.; Pittsfield, Mass.; in Garrison, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie and Wappingers Falls, New York and has a picture in a private collection that hangs in the State Capitol in Albany.

Personals

Mrs. Gertrude A. Mowell, a resident of the Governor Clinton Hotel apartments, is a patient in Benedictine Hospital.

Miss Linda Joyce Hartman, 319 Albany Avenue, has been awarded Honorable Mention at Skirmore College for her scholastic achievements during the academic year 1965-66.

A French major, Miss Hartman is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Hartman. She is a graduate of Kingston High School.

Hudson College Sets August 1 Institute

Hudson Valley Community College, in cooperation with the Oliver Wendel Holmes Association, will offer a special "Intellectual Institute" Aug. 1 through 12.

The unique program will be directed by William Lassiter, retired senior curator of history and art for the New York State Education Department. In announcing the two-week program Lassiter noted that the program is designed to provide older citizens an opportunity for intellectual stimulation through lecture and discussion in the field of the arts.

Among those lecturing discussions will be such well known authorities as Francis L. Richardson, senior lecturer, the Frick Museum, New York City; S. Lane Faison Jr., chairman of the department of art and director of the Williams College Museum of Art, Williamstown, Mass.; and Albert Ten Eyck Gardner, associate curator of American paintings and sculptor, Metropolitan Museum, New York City.

According to Lassiter, participants will have the oppportunity of viewing many examples of art on display at the college and on a field trip to the Clark Museum in Williamstown, Mass. He also noted that the program is specifically designed to provide learning for sheer enjoyment and intellectual stimulation.

Further information concerning the program may be obtained from the Evening and Extension Division at Hudson Valley Community College.

Abstract Paintings Will Be on Exhibit At Phoenicia Library

Mrs. Jean Young, abstract expressionist painter of landscapes, seascapes and nature forms, is presently showing 20 recent pictures at the Phoenicia Library.

Mrs. Young studied under Judith Rothschild and Hans Hoffman in painting and with James Ackerman at the University of California at Berkeley in art history. She has shown her work in Provincetown, Berkeley, San Francisco, Sprinfield Museum, Schuster Gallery, New York City, Richmond Museum, Los Angeles and Woodstock.

Jean Young paints poetry. Reality, whether land or sea, flower or tree, is transformed between her mind's eye and the canvas into something larger than life-size. She does not paint from the scene itself, but from her memory and very sketchy sketches. 'As the images ages", says Mrs. Young, "the unimportant parts drop away, leaving the poetic part for me to paint". Perhaps it is essential beauty that remains. The pictures both in their happy colors and free unfettered lines, speak of optimism; high hopes and love of life.

Connelly Firemen To March in Parade

The members of Hasbrouck Engine Company No. 1 of Connelly will participate in the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's parade to be held in Kingston Saturday, July 30.

All members are requested to report at the Connelly firehouse 3 p. m. in full uniform the day of the parade, by order of Fire Chief Frank Giles and company president James W. Folwell Sr.

The majority of blowouts occur during the last 10 per cent of a tire's life, according to the Automobile Club of New York.

76th Birthday

Mrs. William Dempsey of 131 Broadway, Port Ewen, celebrated her 76th birthday Saturday. She was guest of honor at a dinner at the Dutch Rathskeller restaurant in Kingston, followed by a party at her home. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dempsey and family, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fabysack and family, and Mr. and Mrs. James Smith and family.

Accuses Diplomat

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Youth newspaper accused a U.S. diplomat today of spreading anti-Soviet feeling among foreign students in Moscow and gathering intelligence.

Komsomolskaya Pravda called Alan Logan, second secretary of the U.S. Embassy, "an open enemy of our country."

The paper said Loegan "is deeply mistaken if he thinks he can get away with it. We think the authorities have all grounds to examine more closely the activity of the second secretary."

A cultural attache at the U.S. embassy, Norris D. Garnett, was ordered out of the Soviet Union on May 11, 1965, after similar accusations were made against him.

The U.S. embassy had no immediate comment on the charges against Logan.

Temple Emanuel

Regular summer Sabbath services will be held Friday beginning at 8 p. m. conducted by Leonard Zimet, assisted by the Temple organist.

During the memorial service the memories of William Hymes and Max Kaplan will be invoked.

Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn will conduct a four-session Hebrew beginners reading course starting August 8. Each session will last one hour. Anyone wishing to learn Hebrew is asked to contact Rabbi Eichhorn during the week of August 1-8.

Ahavath Israel

Religious services will be held at Ahavath Israel, at 72 Wurts Street, Friday 8 p. m., and Saturday 9:30 a. m. The services are prayer services, and the prayers are read by Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman, and the liturgy is chanted by Cantor Larry Jacobs. At the Saturday morning service the Biblical reading of the week is explained by Rabbi Schectman.

Monday evening, July 25, is the eve of the sorrowful day in the Hebrew Calendar, the ninth day of the month of Av. It is a day of fasting and mourning, when the Jewish people over the world recall the destruction of the First Holy Temple in Jerusalem by the Babylonians in 586 B. C., and the Second Holy Temple by the Romans in 70 B. C., both on the ninth day of the Hebrew month of Av. Services will be held at Ahavath Israel on Monday 8 p. m., when the Book of Lamentations will be chanted, in which the fall of the Holy City of Jerusalem is lamented. Tuesday, the day of Tischa B'av, as the day is called in Hebrew, is spent in fasting and in the reading of mournful chants in which the destruction of the Holy Land is bitterly bemoaned. Tuesday services will be held at 9:30 a. m.

List Mid-Year Report for TB

The following is a report on the activities of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital from January 1, 1966 through July 19.

There were 4,527 clinic visits of which 2,429 or 53.6 per cent were first examinations.

In this same period of time, tuberculin tests were performed on 1,015 individuals. This is done to test for sensitivity to the protein factors of the tubercle bacillus. When positive, this gives evidence of the person having been infected by this organism.

Pulmonary function studies to determine the type and degree of pulmonary insufficiency were done on 39 patients. Eight of these were normal, the remainder showing significant changes.

Since January 1, 1966 there have been 46 hospital admissions, of which 25 were to the non-tuberculous chest section. There were 55 discharges, 24 of which were from the non-tuberculous service.

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The National Assembly was forced to recess Wednesday night when opposition and government deputies got into a heated argument and began scuffling.

CONCERT GROUP PRESENTS FILM—Doris Day and Arthur Godfrey, cast as daughter and father in "The Glass Bottom Boat" do a bit of vocal harmonizing to the accompaniment of a ukelele in this scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's romantic comedy. Godfrey makes his motion picture debut in the Panavision and Metrocolor attraction, which also stars Rod Taylor. The film will begin showing in the area Wednesday, Aug. 10 at the Community Theatre in Kingston, with first night proceeds going to the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society.

Philharmonic to Present 1st Night Local Showing of New Doris Day Film

The Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society will present the opening night performances of "The Glass Bottom Boat"a new film starring Doris Day and Arthur Godfrey at the Community Theatre in Kingston Wednesday, Aug. 10.

Opening night performances will be at 7 and 9 p. m. Tickets are currently on sale at the Community for the premiere night benefit.

Can you picture Doris Day being "fished" out of the waters off Catalina Island sans her mermaid outfit, which she wears for the benefit of tourists on her father's glass bottom boat?

The guy who makes this catch is Rod Taylor, engineering genius of a spacecraft laboratory testing a new rocket, who hires Doris to work at his plant in order to acquire the data to write his biography.

The results that follow, in which Doris is suspected of being a spy and becomes involved in espionage, counter-espionage, and counter-counter-espionage, makes Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer's new comedy, filmed in panavision and color, one of the dizziest romps ever brought to the screen.

Arthur Godfrey makes his motion picture debut in the role of Doris' father and operator of the glass bottom sightseeing boat. The cast co-stars John McGiver, Edward Andrews, Eric Fleming, Dom De Luise and Dick Martin.

A Martin Melcher - Everett Freeman production, written by Everett Freeman, "The Glass Bottom Boat" was directed by Frank Tashkin and was filmed partly on location at Catalina Island.

Reports Petitions To Have Medicare Include Podiatry

The New York State Podiatry Society has gathered more than 250,000 signatures on petitions that urge Congress to take immediate action to extend Madicare to include podiatry services.

This was reported here by Dr. John Kelly of Kingston, president of the Mid-Hudson Division of the Society, who said that "this vast number of signatures reflects overwhelming support throughout the state for an amendment to the Medicare Act that would bring podiatry under its provisions."

He said that "while the majority of those who have signed the petitions are people 65 and over, younger people, too, have indicated their support of the Podiatry Society's drive to include podiatry in Medicare."

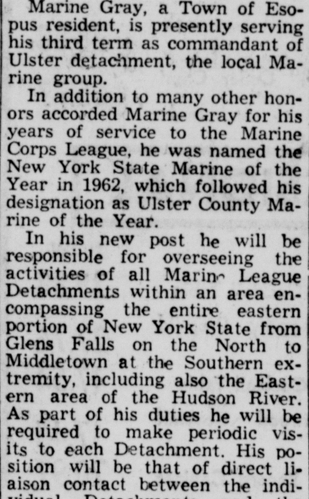

A substantial number of these people have infomed the Society that they have close relatives who are "senior citizens" and who suffer from some type of foot disorder. They recognize the importance of proper foot care for the elderly and enthusiastically back our efforts, he said.

The Podiatry Society notes that when old age is accompanied by foot problems, the afflicted person tends to lose interest in social or business activity, and life can become dreary and without purpose.

In August, 1965, when he signed the Medicare Act, President Johnson took note of the fact that podiatry was not among its provisions. He expressed the hope that this omission would soon be rectified.

Congressional action to expand the Medicare Act is therefore urged by the Podiatry Society so that the aged who cannot pay for regular foot care by skilled podiatrists would still be able to receive the coverage they must have for good health.

Elected Senior Vice Commander By N. Y. Marines

GILBERT E. GRAY

An announcement was received today from New York State headquarters of the Marine Corps League that Gilbert E. Gray of Kingston was elected to the post of senior vice-commandant, Eastern Area, Department of New York. The election was held at the 35th annual Marine Corps League convention at Buffalo. Some 500 delegates from every Detachment within the state were present for the voting.

Local Commandant

Marine Gray, a Town of Esopus resident, is presently serving his third term as commandant of Ulster detachment, the local Marine group.

In addition to many other honors accorded Marine Gray for his years of service to the Marine Corps League, he was named the New York State Marine of the Year in 1962, which followed his designation as Ulster County Marine of the Year.

In his new post he will be responsible for overseeing the activities of all Marine League Detachments within an area encompassing the entire eastern portion of New York State from Glens Falls on the North to Middletown at the Southern extremity, including also the Eastern area of the Hudson River. As part of his duties he will be required to make periodic visits to each Detachment. His position will be that of direct liaison contact between the individual Detachments and the state organization.

Gray now conducts the Doctor's Ambulance Service at 77 Greenkill Avenue. He has been associated with the ambulance business in this locality for several years. He has been widely acclaimed as being Ulster County's champion "Assistant Stork", having assisted at some 14 baby arrivals who just could not wait until they arrived at the hospital.

John Ray Mayone, a former commandant of the local Detachment, said today "Ulster Detachment is extremely proud of Gil Gray. By receiving this recognition from the state organization he has not only brought credit to himself, but also to his Detachment and community."

Gray served in the U. S. Marines during the Korean conflict, and was discharged with the rank of sergeant.

FRANK SINATRA, 50, and his 21-year-old bride, the former Mia Farrow, caught fans and friends by surprise Tuesday when they were married in Las Vegas. The marriage was not expected to take place until after Thanksgiving. (NEA Telephoto).

Ike, Romney Talk

GETTYSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Michigan Gov. George Romney talked about 1966 but not about 1968, they say.

The former president said after the two men met Wednesday at his Gettysburg office that they hadn't discussed the 1968 presidential campaign. Romney has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Republican nomination for President.

What they did talk about, said Eisenhower, was the 1966 election, in which he expressed hope "the governor will have the biggest victory ever."

Luci Is Hostess

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Baines Johnson, who's been having lots of bridal showers lately, was giver instead of recipient at a White House shower Wednesday night.

The President's daughter held the shower in honor of Kathleen Carter, 19, of Arlington, Va., who'll be one of Luci's brides-maids at her wedding Aug. 6 to Patrick Nugent.

Miss Carter, daughter of Clifton Carter, executive director of the Democratic National Committee, will be married Aug. 20 to Michael J. Livingston, a student at the University of Texas.

Georgia Is Resting

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Georgia Skelton, wife of comedian Red Skelton, is resting comfortably at Sunrise Hospital in Las Vegas, recovering from a bullet wound.

Mrs. Skelton, who is reported in satisfactory condition, was accidentally shot early Tuesday when she moved a 38-caliber pistol, part of a gun collection, and it went off, police said.

The accident happened in her suite at the Sands Hotel, where her husband is appearing.

Douglas Goes Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Melvyn Douglas, 65, 1963 winner of an Oscar for a supporting film role, has been released from Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in Hollywood after surgery for removal of a tumor from a foot.

Javits Says Tax Revenues Should Be Shared by All

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Sen. Jacob Javits says the federal government should share its tax revenues with the individual states and their governmental subsidivions.

The New York Republican, in a speech Wednesday night to the final session of the National Association of Counties Convention, also called on Congress to strengthen the Equal Employment Opportunities Act and housing anti- discrimination provisions as well as extend home rule to the District of Columbia.

Favors Revision

Javits said he favors a revision of pending legislation designed to distribute a portion of federal tax monies to the states. He said he is considering an amendment so that state's with the lowest per capita incomes would receive the greatest share of federal funds.

Javits, however, would restrict the allotments to the states to spending on programs in the general areas of health, education and welfare and not for highway construction, general administrative expenses or debt service.

"It is my feeling that despite Viet Nam war costs, hearings should be held at this session so that Congress can call expert witnesses and address itself to the difficult job of shaping a final tax-sharing bill that can be put into effect as soon as possible," Javits said.

He drew applause from the county officials when he said that federal programs should be in local hands. "But we must insist that the job be well done and skillfully and honestly," he added. "we in Congress are eager to desolve upon you the responsibility for the administration of programs."

Foresees Escalation

Earlier, Javits told an interviewer that if North Viet Nam tries American pilots as war criminals it can put this nation in such a state of mind that "anything can happen in respect to escalating the war."

In the election of officers, Richard Coffee, Trenton, N.J., was named the association's third vice president.

Robert H. Miller, Chatauga County, N.Y., was named president of the National Association of County Treasurers and Finance Officers — an affiliated organization. Joseph DeCoster, Middlesex, N.J., was chosen a vice president of the same group.

Kenmore Man Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Robert Raeder, 46, of Nearby Kenmore, who suffered chest and hand burns July 1 when a lighted match ignited his clothing, died Wednesday in Kenmore Mercy Hospital.

GET READY FOR VISITORS—Members of New Paltz Reformed Church will play a key part in the annual Stone House Day celebration scheduled Saturday, Aug. 6, from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. The church, built in 1839, is jointly sponsoring Stone House Day with the Huguenot Historical Society of New Paltz. (N. Y. State Commerce photo).

Paltz Expects 3,000 Guests For Aug. 6 Stone House Day

Costumed hostesses are ready to receive the 3,000 visitors expected to visit Huguenot Street, New Paltz, the oldest street in America with its original houses, on Saturday, Aug. 6 from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The French founders of New Paltz began to build their stone houses in 1692 and added to them for the next two decades as their families grew and prospered. Since that time they have remained essentially unchanged. These are not reconstructions, but the authentic originals, furnished with cherished heirlooms of generations of descendants.

Stone House Day is sponsored jointly by the Reformed Church and the Huguenot Historical Society of New Paltz. Two fine country homes of a slightly later date also will be open.

'The Legend of Catherine DuBois" will be presented as a pageant at 2:30. It concerns events of 1663 which led to the founding of New Paltz. An Indian wedding is a colorful part of the tale.

The Burgher Guard of the Holland Society will appear in full regalia at 2 p. m. Craft demonstrations, a slide lecture, and an art show will help to make a full day's entertainment. Costumed hostesses will guide visitors on the path back through 270 years of history.

Luncheon will be available at the church and there will be refreshment stands on the ground.

Child Drowns in Pool

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Nine - teen - month - old Kimberly Hogrewe drowned Wednesday in her family's backyard swimming pool in nearby Grand Island.

Erie County Sheriff's deputies said the girl apparently wandered away from a group of children playing in the yard, climbed the steps to the pool and tumbled into two feet of water.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hogrewe.

The family lives at 84 Jenell Road.

Just Out to Scare

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Patrolman Charles Deery walked up behind a man who was holding several people at bay in a downtown garage with a submachine gun recently and said, "What are you doing with that thing?"

"I'm just trying to scare people," was the reply from Richard Belfatti, 30, police said.

The gun was not loaded and its barrel had been plugged. Belfatti was jailed on a charge of illegal possession of a machine gun.

Plan Bus Trip To Middletown State Hospital

The special monthly bus to Middletown State Hospital from the Kingston-New Paltz area will run on the last Wednesday of this month, July 27. The air-conditioned bus is chartered by Ulster County Association for Mental Health, for the convenience of persons wishing to visit patients at the hospital.

Regular visiting afternoons are Sunday and Wednesday each week. The special bus runs once a month, and alternates between the last Sunday and the last Wednesday.

The schedule is as follows: Kingston, at the Park Diner at 11:45 a. m.; Rosendale, at the Elms at noon; and New Paltz, at the Grand Union Supermarket, corner of Main and Chestnut Streets at 12:10 p. m.

The bus leaves the hospital at 4 p. m. and returns to Kingston by 5:30 p. m., stopping as requested on the return journey.

Further information may be had by contacting the executive secretary of the Ulster County Association for Mental Health, at the office, 27 East O'Reilly Street, on Tuesdays, Wednesdays or Fridays. In Saugerties, persons may call Mrs. Edwin C. Shults; or in New Paltz, Mrs. Albert S. Kerr.

This is one of the services of the local association for mental health, a voluntary organization supported entirely by voluntary contributions; through membership dues, the Community Chest, and contributions from business, industry and the professions, in those parts of Ulster County not covered by the Community Chest.

SUNY Gets $100,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State University of New York has been awarded a $100,000 federal grant to finance a two-year program for developing state services to handicapped persons.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare made the grant Wednesday.

Facts and Figures On Gemini Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Here is the Gemini 10 flight in brief:

Monday

Blastoff on-the-second for both Agena target and pursuing Gemini 10.

Precise link-up by command pilot John W. Young with Agena on fourth revolution.

Tuesday

Switch to lower orbit, still on Agena power, to set up rendezvous with lifeless Agena 8.

Stand-up exercise by pilot Michael Collins, with all but his legs out of cabin, for photography.

Condition cleared after return to cabin atmosphere.

Wednesday

Agena 10 held overtime to conserve Gemini fuel and used for maneuvers to get on Agena 8's trail, providing bonus lessons for moon flight.

Agena 10 dropped with accolade from Young — "A mighty good train."

Rendezvous with old Agena, completing history's first double hunt-down in sky.

Collins out on lifeline for another first — visit to new space neighbor and recovery of experiment package from it.

Walk 247 miles up cut short when fuel limit reached.

Verdict at that point: Collins — "I don't have any complaints at all"; Young—"It was really incredible"; Ground — "We're pretty doggone happy."

Today

Retrofire at 3:31 p.m. EST to start descent.

Splashdown at 4:07 p.m. in Atlantic 550 miles east southeast of Cape Kennedy, with good conditions forecast.

This is a Single Handle Kitchen Faucet

(Circa— not too long ago)

All you needed to get water was a handy glassful for priming the pump. Then with a bit of work the water would come pouring out. But before it stopped you had to be sure to have that extra glass for the next priming.

Schoonmaker Homes don't have pumps in the kitchen. Then neither do many other homes. What makes a Schoonmaker Kitchen is its coordinated design. Design which saves steps, saves work and is beautiful to boot.

No need to save an extra glass of water . . . in Schoonmaker homes you only turn the Faucet.

Iron-Clad Bridge Rule Discovered

BY JACOBY & SON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

After years of research we have finally discovered one rule of play to which there are no exceptions. This ironclad rule is: "All rules should be broken on occasion."

There is nothing exceptional about South's six-heart contract or about the way he got there. West opens the queen of clubs and South notes that if trumps and spades both break he has a cinch. Otherwise he may have to fall back on the diamond finesse.

He takes his ace of clubs, draws trumps with three leads, and notes that East who dropped the deuce of clubs at trick one discards the three. Then South goes after spades. On the third spade lead West discards a small diamond so South is now faced with the prospect of a sure club loser.

There is no hurry about the diamond finesse. South plays a club to his king and throws West in with a third club.

West is holding the last club. If he leads it, he will give South a ruff and discard and West is well aware of the rule never to give declarer a ruff and discard.

He is also aware of our ironclad rule as stated above. So he gives decalrer the ruff and discard anyway. He has followed the play and noted that declarer has only one trump left and that his other three cards are either three diamonds or two diamonds and a spade.

The ruff and discard play can't give declarer his contract. A diamond lead can. West leads his fourth club and South is forced to take the diamond finesse after all. And it loses.

Dear Abby . . .
This Deal Proposes Many Benefits

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: There are so many people in their sixties alone and lonely for companionship, and I know why.

I am a man, nearly 65. I am retired and on Social Security. I own an old car and work a few hours to keep it running.

For the past three years I've been trying to find a lady to go steady with, but I've given up. I can't afford it.

I have met a lot of women near my age, and they are wonderful company. But the trouble is, they all expect a man to take them out a couple of nights a week, wine them and dine them, go to drive-in movies, and for drives and lunches.

One of them said, "My company should be worth that much." Well, how about MY company?

I wouldn't expect a woman to share car expenses, but if we both have about the same incomes and stretched a dollar, we could have a wonderful time if we shared expenses. Neither one of us is a prize package anymore. Why act like it.

J. IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR J.: You'd be surprised how many women in their sixties would buy the deal you propose. Why don't you lay all your cards on the table? You could draw a queen.

• • • • •

DEAR ABBY: How much do you think parents should know about their married children's financial affairs? I would appreciate a published reply. The interested parties might recognize themselves and take the hint. Thank you.

"YOUNG MARRIEDS"

DEAR "YOUNG MARRIEDS:" This depends entirely on whether or not the parents of the young marrieds contribute in any way to their support. If they do, they have a right to know where their money goes. If not, the financially independent young people should have the privilege of privacy.

• • • • •

DEAR ABBY: I was married last Sunday in the chapel of our church. It was a small but beautiful wedding. Everything was perfect. We opened our gifts and then left for a short honeymoon trip. When we returned all was in a state of turmoil. My father had proof that my husband had been married before and had not been divorced.

When confronted with this accusation my husband denied it, and said he was going to get a lawyer. Then he took off and never came back. My problem is what to do about the wedding gifts. I started asking people if they wanted them back, and they all said no. How about the initialed tea towels and so on? My mother said she doesn't want to see one wedding gift around the house. What should I do?

BRIDE WITHOUT A GROOM

DEAR BRIDE: Under the circumstances, the gifts should have been returned to the senders with a brief note of thanks and explanation. It is not customary to ask if the donors want their gifts back. Initialed or monogrammed gifts can be given to the needy.

Camp Wendy Has Many Activities For Girl Scouts

Swimming is probably the most popular activity at Camp Wendy, but boating, badge work, floating suppers, cookouts, a Smorgasboard and sleeping out under the stars are all a part of program these past two weeks. The camp located in Wallkill is operated by Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts which is a member agency of the Community Chest.

Of special interest this past week was an International Night, planned with the girls by exchange counselors Henrietta Hansen of Denmark, and Monica Gusteifson and Kerstin Frodin of Sweden. All girls had a chance to participate with songs, games, and folk dances from these two countries. The evening ended in a candlelight procession and ceremony based on the Swedish legend of Santa Lucia. Invited guests for the evening were members of the board of directors of Ulster County Girl Scouts, and representatives of Community Chest, service clubs and other organizations.

Girls attending camp from this area were:

From Woodstock: Lynn A. Bailey, Barbara Buoymaster, Andrea Hauser, Cindy M. Hilton, Karen M. Kane, Sally P. Kinns, Cary S. Kittner, Cathy A. Kittner, Susan A. Large, Caryl E. Lattof, Deborah C. Logan, Elizabeth McGuire, Karen L. Olsen, Diana M. Parkhurst, Linda A. Parkhurst, Susan L. Parkhurst, Suzanne R. Schonger, Marney Sprague, Diane Wittner, Martha Wyllie.

From Walikill: Marie A. Barrows, Robin Anne Buesing, Jo-Ann Carfizzi, Bonnie J. Crawford, Sarah J. Crawford and Patricia Pines.

From Highland: Elena C. Brown, Gabrielle Canino, Kathleen Costantino, Nancy Gruner, Ellen R. Roberto and Cheryl E. Wilklow.

From Kingston: Eileen L. Doria, Elane E. Lipton, Sharon E. Phillipps, Edith Strauss, and Doris M. Wiltsie.

From Poughkeepsie: Adela J. Kirschner, Katharine Kirschner, and Colleen D. Smith.

From Napanoch: Dawn Schoonmaker, Diana Schoonmaker, Sandra Lou Schoonmaker, and Sherry Schoonmaker.

From New Paltz: Carolyn E. Huyer, Karen Kudzin, Eva Marie Ottesen, Holly Pugliese, Nancy J. Rollins, Diana M. Smith, Linda P. Weiss, and Monica J. Weiss.

From Saugerties: Diane T. Hall, Gail A. Hall, Mary Lou Leah, Paula L. Poleschner, Darice Swech and Karen Swech.

Others attending: Marion J. Mizel, Hurley; Kathleen Powers, Susan Powers, both Port Ewen; Marie I. Sande, Patricia A. Sande, both Lake Katrine; Robin E. Smith, Spring Glen; Sheryl Ulrich, Tillson; Robin Perlmutter, Monticello, Julie Gutkin, Kerhonkson; Catherine Haines, Malden-on-Hudson, and Alison K. Heermans, West Hurley.

Both Roosevelt, O'Connor Predict Support by RFK

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Democratic gubernatorial candidates Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Frank D. O'Connor each say they will be the ones Sen. Robert F. Kennedy will support if he decides on a candidate.

Both made their predictions here. O'Connor, New York City Council president, issued his forecast two weeks ago.

Roosevelt followed suit Wednesday while here to confer with Mayor Frank Sedita. The Democratic mayor introduced the 51-year-old son of the late President as the "next governor".

A smiling Roosevelt said if Kennedy, regarded by many as the most influential Democrat in the state, should decide to back a candidate before the state Democratic convention here in September, "I am convinced he will support my nomination."

Questioned further by newsmen, Roosevelt said that Kennedy had informed him last week that he has not decided whether he will "take an active part" in the gubernatorial nomination.

Conservative Party Mapping Campaign to Frustrate Rocky

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The 4 - year-old Conservative Party quietly is mapping a campaign that it hopes will frustrate Gov. Rockefeller's bid fof a third term.

The party also seeks to influence the outcome of contests for Congress and the Legislature, using the controversial new medical - aid program as a major issue in the state-level campaign.

Stress Dems Battle

With the Republican governor's renomination assured, much of the interest in New York State political affairs has focussed on the four-way fight for the Democratic nomination.

There has been little speculation on the activities of the oldest splinter party, the Liberal Party, because it is assumed that the Liberals — as in the past — will endorse the Democratic nominee.

The Conservative Party's role in the forthcoming campaign also has been overlooked, despite the prospect that this relatively new force in state politics could play a "spoiler" role.

In a close gubernatorial election, the Conservatives could siphon off enough Republican votes to deprive Rockefeller of victory.

Although the party finds little to praise in Democrats, it was organized four years ago primarily by dissident Republicans as a protest to the liberal politices of Rockefeller. He remains their chief target.

Grown Steadily

Since the Conservatives' first gubernatorial race, in 1962, when they attracted 141,000 votes for David H. Jacquith of Syracuse, the party has grown steadily in strength.

In 1964, the party's U.S. Senate candidate, Prof. Henry Paolucci of Iona College, drew 212-000 votes. Last year, columnist William F. Buckley polled 343,-000 votes in New York City alone in his unsuccessful race for mayor.

Buckley's showing raised party morale to new heights.

At Conservative headquarters in New York City, party leaders now are laying plans to field a full state ticket in opposition to the GOP and Democratic slates. They also are running candidates for Congress and the Legislature in some sections of the state and have endorsed a handful of GOP and Democratic conservatives.

Working on Slate

"We're working very hard right now to line up our state ticket," reported Kieran O'Doherty of New York City, a leading light in the party.

O'Doherty was a founder and first state chairman of the party and continues as a principal strategist.

O'Doherty said he doubted whether the party could field a "name" candidate for governor but maintained this was not an indispensable factor.

Buckley is ineligible to run because he does not meet the State Constitution's requirement for five years of residency in the state.

O'Doherty also maintained there was "absolutely no truth" to reports earlier this year that the party had offered its nomination to William E. Miller of Lockport, the 1964 GOP nominee for vice president.

"The main thing is to present highly qualified candidates, and we will do just that," O'Doherty said.

O'Doherty said the party's main campaign issues against Rockefeller would be "his general economic policies — the enormous increase in state expenditures in every area."

Conservative candidates for legislative office also will point up what the party believes to be the potentially excessive cost of the medical - aid program.

While the party will gain much of its fire on Rockefeller, the Democrats also will draw their share.

"We will equally belabor the Democratic candidate for governor, because he probably will advocate the same general policies as Rockefeller, O'Doherty said. "That will make us the only party attacking both sides."

Death of Actress Revives Memory Of Long Mystery

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The death this month of actress Anne Nagel revived memories of a 30-year-old mystery: Why did Ross Alexander kill himself?

Back in the 1930s, Ross Alexander was considered one of the screen's most promising young leading men. The tall, darkly handsome actor displayed a light-comedy touch in such films as "Brother Rat" and the all-star "Midsummer Night's Dream." In looks and manner he resembled another new star, Cary Grant.

On the day after New Year's, Alexander, 29, seemed in good spirits. He and his wife, Anne Nagel, whom he had married four months before, dismantled the Christmas tree in their Encino home and discussed their plans for the coming year. They decided they would take a trip together.

That afternoon, Alexander went to the barn behind their ranch home and shot himself in the head.

Miss Nagel testified at the coroner's inquest that her husband seemed happier on that fatal day than he had been for weeks. He was an expert shot and was accustomed to handling firearms, she added.

He left no notes, although his wife reported he had been writing poetry, "he crumpled the paper up and threw it on the fire," she said.

The coroner's jury decided Alexander had shot himself with suicidal intent.

The actor's death followed a year after the suicide of his first wife, stage actress Aleta Friele. On Dec. 7, 1935, Alexander had found her body in the backyard of their Hollywood home. She had been shot in the temple by a 22-caliber rifle.

Miss Friele had been disappointed in her film career; despite several screen tests, she won no contracts. Meanwhile her husband's career flourished. For weeks she had been threatening to return to her eastern home.

Alexander told a coroner's jury of a quarrel one night when he finally replied to her threats: "For God's sake, go home!"

"She jumped off the bed, ran out of the room and slammed the door," said the actor. "I still sat on the bed. It seemed it was just a few seconds later when I heard a shot."

Alexander was morose on the anniversary of his first wife's death. He sat in the bar of his Encino home with a loaded pistol. Only the persuasion of his father induced him to relinquish the gun. Less than a month later, the actor used it to kill himself.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Weekly Food Review

NEW YORK (AP)—Chickens have turned lazy in the hot summer weather and are laying fewer eggs. The result: wholesale prices of a dozen eggs rose as much as seven cents in the past week.

The heat in much of the country continued to hit the housewife's pocketbook.

The sun shriveled snap beans in Maryland and Pennsylvania and peas in Wisconsin.

Cherry yield in the Great Lakes area is estimated at half of last year's crop, and higher prices are forecast for peaches, plums, and apples in all but Southwestern areas.

Broilers, beef cuts, and turkey are featured in many supermarkets this week. Hamburger and steak lovers can find good buys in many areas.

Salads can still be made at reasonably low cost, with a heavy harvest of tomatoes in California offsetting adverse weather in the rest of the country. Lettuce, radishes, green peppers, and onions are moderately plentiful.

That scorching weather that plagues the bean grower is a blessing to the corn farmer. An estimated 59 per cent increase in this year's harvest will mean lower corn prices.

While milk-lovers pay more for their favorite beverage, black-coffee addicts have rarely had it so good. Coffee prices are down.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Much of the talk these days is about the economy turning down. But most of the key statistics show the economy is still climbing to new highs.

What is happening is that while the economy was booming ahead at a rapid rate in the first three months of this year, it is now advancing at a more normal pace and responding in a more healthy fashion to seasonal factors. With few exceptions, the key segments in the economy haven't turned down or even leveled off.

Exceptional Circumstances

And the exceptions, such as auto sales, housing starts and new orders for durable goods, have exceptional circumstances of their own.

Car sales are lower at the moment than a year ago when they were at a record high. But no one can be sure whether that means that consumers are tightening up on spending or are influenced by all the talk about auto safety.

Although Americans were bying fewer cars in April, May and June, total consumer spending for that period grew by $3.3 billion to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $458.9 billion. You can view this with alarm because the gain was less than the $10.4 billion advance in the first quarter of the year, or you can hail the more normal rate of advance and the new high it set.

Housing starts have had periodic sinking spells for two years now. At the moment a new uncertainty — tight money in the mortgage fund field—is complicating the picture. And tight money stems from the inflationary boom of the first three months of 1966—both because of official efforts to tighten credit and of still booming demand for loans in many fields.

Backlog Rises

New factory orders for durable goods — watched as a guide to future output in June came to a seasonly adjusted $24.1 billion. This was $100 million below the May and April totals. But the June orders were $2.8 billion higher than a year ago. And a "large increase in bookings for defense products" is reported by the Commerce Department. These seem more likely to continue to gain than to drop.

The backlog of durable goods orders actually rose by $1.2 billion to a total of $70.7 billion at the end of June, or $13.2 billion more than a year ago. Factories apparently still have lots of orders to keep them busy.

Worriers about the economy like to point to a slowdown in the advance of the Gross National Product. Actually, this measure of the total output of goods and services is still rising. In the second quarter it hit a new high, a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $732 billion.

May Sell Orange Plant, Payroll Totals $8 Million

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — The manager of a Dupont coated fabric plant said Wednesday the company is considering selling the plant.

The plant employs almost 1,000 people and has an $8 million annual payroll. It was the site of the development of "Corfam," a new plastic product used in shoes. But Dupont built a new plant at Old Hickory, Tenn., to manufacture the product.

Plant Manager Fred E. Walter announced that "it has been made known in the proper circles that if an offer was received from a company with the capabilities and interests to keep operating the plant, Dupont would consider selling."

Forecast Cooling Period for 2-3 Days

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecasts for Upstate Neq York, as prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Thursday through Monday:

The weather will be quite cool during the next two to three days and well below normal. A large Canadian high pressure will produce cool, pleasant days and unusually cool nights into Saturday. Temperatures are expected to rise during the weekend. A few light scattered showers, mainly in mountains, expected early in period. Scattered showers more likely Sunday and Monday. Overall rainfall generally less than one fourth inch.

Daytime highs will be mainly in the 70s through Saturday upper 70s to mid 80s over the weekend. Nighttime lows will be in the 40s and low 50s through Friday and in the 50s to near 60 the remainer of period.

Subway Grill Upsets Armstrong's, 1-0, on Lasher 4-Hitter

Losers Protest; Amato's Upend Stokes-Jack's

It was a bad day all the way round for league leading Armstrong's in the City Softball League Wednesday.

Subway Grill knocked them out of first place with a brilliant 1-0, four-hit victory by Bud Lasher, who topped Bill Costello's 3-hitter.

They got involved in their second protest of the season on an incident allegedly involving a batter's balk.

The high riding Amato Atlantics jolted Jack's Barber Shop, 8 to 5, for their sixth win in the last seven games, as they handed unbeaten Bill Stokes his first setback after seven straight wins.

Mike Amato notched his fourth win in five starts with a slick 5-hitter against the giant killing Jack's. Mike Amato slammed a three run homer during a 6-run Amato explosion in the sixth inning. Red Amato slammed two doubles and Pat Berardi hit a single and double. Charlie Bishop's homer accounted for two Jack's runs.

Ferraro's Key Blow

Ron Ferraro humbled the peerless Billy Costello with a seventh inning double, following singles by Cole and Scheffel. Costello fanned 10 and Lasher (5-2) whiffed nine.

The Armstrong-Subway dispute was to be resolved by the league's arbitration board today.

Terry Corkery made his league pitching debut a highly successful one in hurling Royal Dukes to a win over Mets. He allowed only three hits and struck out eight.

Bob short went "5 for 5" including three doubles and a homer. Joe Tremper stroked three doubles and a homer, Tom Fiore tripled and Vince Smedes doubled off loser Harry Stokes.

Schatzel of Knights Hurls BRL 0-Hitter

George Schatzel of the Knights of Columbus pitched a no-hit, no-run game, as the Knights shut out Hurley, 6-0, in the Babe Ruth League Wednesday.

Schatzel, who fanned 10 and walked five, went hitless at the plate but had three long drives hauled in by outfielders. The winners collected six hits off Don Fisher. Dave Goldman led with two singles.

Rally in Sixth

Elks Lodge rallied with two runs in the bottom of the sixth to edge Food Fair, 5-4, although limited to one hit by Pete Helmich, who whiffed 13. Eleven Food Fair errors told the story.

Food Fair had nine hits off Ernie Cozza, the winner, and Charlie Lay. Helmich rapped two singles and a double and Ken Murphy stroked three singles for Food Fair.

Sport Briefs

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP) — The United States has won both the individual and team championships in the center fire pistol events at the World Shooting Championships.

William Blankenship of Columbus, Ga., had 595 out of a possible 600 to win the individual crown. The U.S. foursome had an aggregate of 2,341 of a possible 2,400. Russia was second with 2,340.

PORTILLO, Chile (AP) — Heavy snow hit this Andes resort Wednesday slowing preparations for the World Alpine Ski Championships scheduled to start two weeks from today.

Rosendale Club Applies for Four Ski Jump Dates

Applications to conduct four major jumping tournaments have been submitted by the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club to the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association.

Approval or rejection will be announced in the next few weeks.

Among the proposed tournaments are the New York State Championships and Combined Championships, sponsored by the Rosendale Nordic Ski Club, and the annual Rosendale Nordic Ski Club Trophy Tournament.

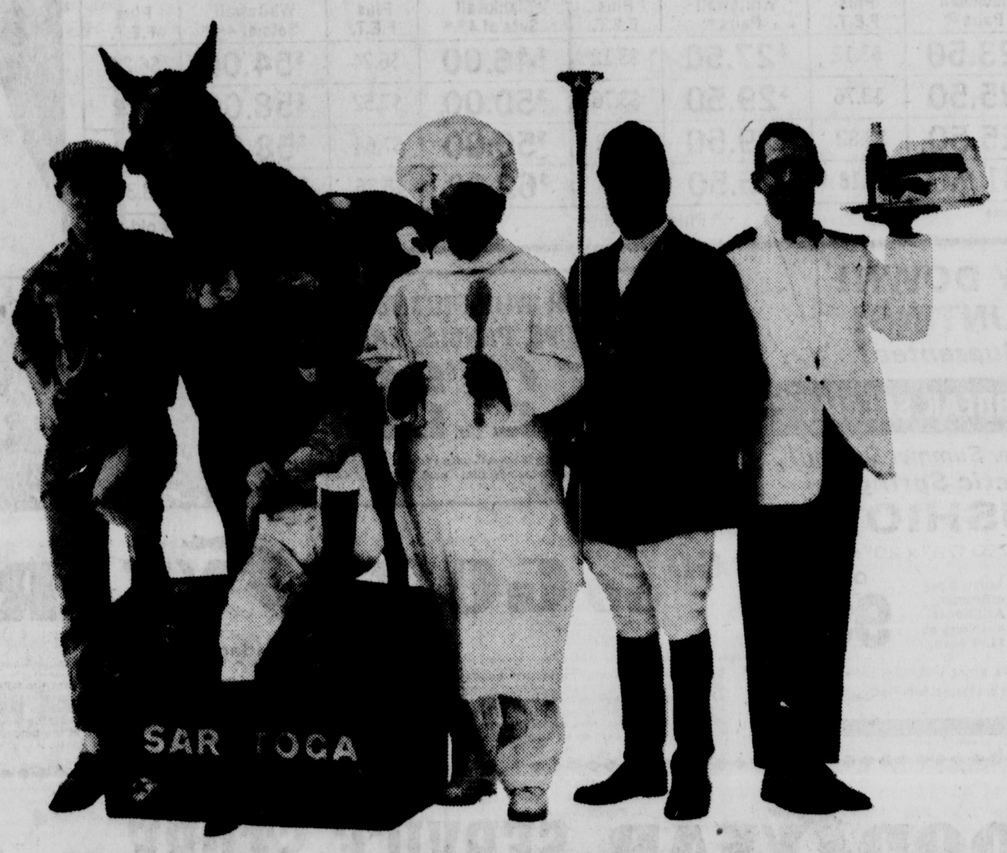

In adddition, the jumping will be expanded to take in all of the clubs of the Hudson valley and Catskill mountain area. This is due to the annual Rip Van Winkle Ski Jumping tournament being sponsored by the 14 clubs of the area. The event will be under the jurisdiction of the Hudson Valley Ski Club of Poughkeepsie. William Decker, a director of the U.S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association, will be in charge.

The Mt. Beacon Ski Club will also sponsor its annual 70-meter tournament at the Rosendale hill. Dates being sought are the last two weekends in January and the first two weekends in February—the heart of the ski jumping season.

Samuels Pitches 0-Hitter in 5-1 Win Over Jaycees

(The Results)

Ellenville 7, Town of Ulster 6

Rondout Valley 6, Kingston National 1

Highland 10, Pine Bush 1

Kingston Americans 5, Kingston Jaycees 1

Coppola of Highland 3-hitted Pine Bush in a 10-1 victory, while Ellenville Little League outlasted Town of Ulster LL, 7 to 6 in an old fashioned slugfest featured by three Ulster homers —two by Tim Palen and one by Fortune.

Anton's Restaurant took over the temporary lead in the Saugerties Softball League, a half game ahead of Glasco Atheltic Club, with a 13-4 rout of Miller's Rexall.

In a companion game Wednesday, Southside Men's routed Ted's Esso, 25 to 5, administering the coup de grace with an 8-run seventh inning.

Chick Carpino scattered seven hits to win his seventh game in eight decisions for Anton's. Roy Casella led the 9-hit attack on Eddie Jabs and Sam Tesoriero (0-5).

Vince Ferraro of Southside knocked in five runs with two singles, a double and home run to lead a 23-hit assault on Woody Sperl Sr. (2-2). Gordy Freligh pitched a 5-hitter for his first Southside victory. Bill McCormick lashed two singles and a triple.

Red Cross Issues Another Booklet On Safe Boating

The fourth Red Cross boating booklet, Basic Sailing, has been published and is now available through the Ulster County Chapter at their headquarters, 308 Clinton Avenue. Red Cross safety services now have four publications on safe boating. The other three are Basic Outboard Boating, Basic Rowing, and Basic Canoeing.

The four booklets were prepared both for use in ARC small craft courses and as reference works on safe boat handling for persons engaged in boating as a sport but who do not take formal instruction.

Basis Rowing includes instructions in handling rowboats and use of them in rescuing drowning persons. Valuable as a reference source on safe rowing, there are numerous illustrations throughout its 80 pages.

Basic Canoeing is condensed from the more detailed Red Cross textbook, Canoeing. It contains information on safe canoe handling and also has many illustrations throughout its 63 pages.

Basic Outboard Boating contains a wide variety of information on operation of outboard boats; piloting and navigation, and safety and rescue. It is valuable as a reference book for boat owners and persons who are considering acquiring an outboard motorboat.

The Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest.

Mrs. Robert H. Daley, 76-24-52; Mrs. George C. Rifenbary, 94-21-52; Mrs. Joseph Brady, 74-21-53; Mrs. Howard Terwilliger, 78-24-54; Mrs. Raymond Sawyer, 79-25-54; Mrs. George Rusk, 72-18-54.

B. Bogle Ousts Hughes, 7 and 6

George Hughes' bid for the New York State Amateur golf crown was abruptly terminated by Bill Bogle of Dutchess Golf and Country Club, 7 and 6, Wednesday at the Concord Hotel course at Kiamesha Lake.

Bogle was paired today against John Babuka Jr., Binghamton, who reached the third round by defeating Lawrence McGinnis of Poughkeepsie, 4 and 3.

The field will be narrowed to eight with two rounds today. The quarter finals and semi-finals are scheduled Friday with the 36-hole final listed for Saturday.

Dr. Olivet Paces Beat Pro Event

The Twaalfskill Club golfers who were wary about taking their chances against pro Alex Gerlak in the annual Beat the Pro Day missed a great chance.

The old pro was somewhat off form and the 37-40-77 he posted was beaten (with handicaps) by four of only six players who competed in the 18-hole event.

Dr. John Olivet led the field with 86-18-68. Other winners: George Svirsky, 79-9-70; William Livingston, 84-13-71; Herman Glanz, 92-18-74. Edward Minasian fired 92-13-79 and William Golden had 97-18-79.

Apaches Check Mohawks, 5 to 2

Apaches came up with four runs in the fifth inning to defeat Mohawks, 5-2, in a game of 2-hitters in the Met Knot Hole League.

Glen Stoutenburg was the winning pitcher. Lee Lafferty took the loss. Joe Fay led the hitters with a double.

Perfect Timing Is Ryun Secret

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Jim Ryun's greatness can be measured by a track official's stopwatch but not by medical equipment in a University of Kansas physiology laboratory.

Dr. Ed Elbel, a physical education professor at KU, said Wednesday that Ryun, the world's fastest middle-distance runner, differed little in physiological profile from other Jayhawk runners he has tested over the years.

"The most rigid difference between Jim and anyone else is his ability to expend energy when it's necessary," Elbel said.

"I call it explosive power—the ability to go into high gear when he has the desire. It's a matter of perfect timing."

Elbel puts the athletes through a 30-minute stint on a treadmill and measures such heart and lung functions as rate and amount of air exchange and pulse rate.

Ryun, whose time of 3:51.3 Sunday shattered Michel Jazy's world mile mark by 2.3 seconds, has a pulse rate while reclining which runs a poor second to that of Bill Dodson, a former KU miler who had a best of only 3:59 in 1962.

Elbel said Ryun's pulse rate on May 21 was 54 to 55 per minute while Dodson was measured at 30 to 32. A low pulse rate often is considered a sign of a well-conditioned athlete.

There is no physiological test available, Elbel said, which explains why one trained distance runner will defeat another.

New York State Harness Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At Roosevelt Raceway, Noble Flip scored a 2½-length victory over Nancy Adios in the $5,000 Invitational pace.

The 4-year-old horse covered the mile in 2:02 2-5 and returned $9. Swan Day N. showed.

Vernon Downs—Kaycee Hanover ($2.40) took the $2,000 pace by half a length over Danny Gold in 2:03.

Saratoga Raceway — Gold Plate ($7.80) captured the first division $3,600 pace by a head over Ramble in 2:05 1-5. Driver Howard Parker also piloted Golden Future ($3) to a 4½-length victory over Amy Smith in the second division pace in 2:05 2-5.

2,000 Milestone For Ernie Banks

CHICAGO (AP) — First baseman Ernie Banks, known as Mr. Cub, has passed another milestone.

His 65th hit of the season Wednesday was the 2,000th of his career.

It was an eighth-inning double off Sam Ellis in the first game of a doubleheader with Cincinnati. It came in Banks' 1,895th major league game, all of them with Chicago.

The Cubs lost, however, 5-4, and also dropped the nightcap 5-1 as the game was called after seven innings because of darkness. He was hitless in this one.

He became the fourth Cub in history with 2,000 hits. Cap Anson leads the parade with 3,081, followed by Stan Hack's 2,193 and James Ryan's 2,156.

While Charlie Grimm, longtime Cub and three-time manager of the club, has 2,299 career hits, he collected only 1,454 in a Chicago uniform.

"I owe a vote of thanks to Stan Musial," said Banks. "This spring when I got off slowly, I had a talk with Stan he related the various things he used to do when he was in a slump. I followed his advice and it was a big help."

Although membership in the majors' 2,000-hit circle is large, Banks is only the second Cub in modern history to join it. Hack is the other.

Banks, 35, who won successive National League Most Valuable Player awards in 1958 and 1959,, has 1,197 singles, 316 doubles, 79 triples and 408 homers in his collection. His 1,262 runs batted in includes a career total of 10 grand slam homers—five of them in 1955 for a single season record.

Big M Feature To Fresh Yankee

MONTICELLO—Sanders Russell, behind Fresh Yankee, let Frank Ervin and Mary Donner have the lead for the first half mile in Wednesday's Fred Egan Trot at Monticello Raceway, but front and held the lead the rest of the way, as Fresh Yankee captured the feature for three-year-old fillies the second week in a row.

As the horses went away from the starting gate, Mary Donner took the lead on the rail and Fresh Yankee eased into second as they hit the first turn, with Little Miss Mitzie tucking in for third and Meadow Janice fourth.

That was the order for the first time around, but Russell took the Hickory Pride filly past Ervin and Mary coming down the stretch the first time, and never was in serious danger after that.

The times for the hard-fought race were a trifle slow, as Fresh Yankee posted a winning time of 2:06.4, compared to a 2:05 a week ago. The quarter times were :30.4, 1:03.4, 1:36 and 2:06.4.

Paid $5.20 Mutuel

Coalition finished fourth, Little Miss Mitzie fifth and Meadow Janice was last.

Earlier in the evening, Clint Galbraith drove Niagara Ace to a dazzling 2:03.4 win in one of four races for two-year-olds with no betting allowed, held from 7 to 7:30 p. m.

Except for a 2:02.3 by Romulus Hanover and Bill Haughton Monday night, Niagara Ace's time was the best ever recorded for a two-year-old pacer at the Mighty M. Romulus Hanover had broken the five year old record of 2:04.3, set by Lehigh Hanover and Stanley Dancer in 1961.

Galbraith guided the two-year-old to fractional times of :30.3, 1:02 and 1:32.4. Winners of the other three early non-betting races were Decidely in 2:14.2, Bethel Lucky in 2:11.2 and Notable Pick in 2:12.3.

The twin double returned $842.20 Winning combination was 4-8-6-1. Three were 35 live tickets.

Bengals Act Sick, Are Sick

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Detroit Tigers have a sick manager, a sick acting manager, and a sick shortstop. Right now their pitching staff isn't exactly the picture of health either.

Baltimore continued to punish the Tiger staff Wednesday, pounding Denny McLain and two successors for 16 hits in a 10-7 triumph that extended the Orioles' American League lead to 10½ games.

Detroit Manager Chuck Dressen is recuperating from his second heart attack in two years and now Acting Manager Bob Swift and All-Star shortstop Dick McAuliffe have been hospitalized with bacterial food poisoning.

McLain, who pitched three perfect innings in the All-Star Game, was ripped for home runs by Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell as the Orioles wiped out an early deficit.

In 5 1-3 innings pitched since the All-Star break, McLain has been tagged with two losses in which he gave up 16 hits and 14 runs, all of them earned.

Lose Five In Row

The second-place Tigers meanwhile, have lost 14 of their last 20 games including five in a row. During the five-game slide, Detroit pitchers have given up 53 runs, an average of more than 10 per game.

Frank Skaff, handling the Tigers in the absence of both Dressen and Swift, saw Detroit jump into a 3-0 lead and then rally for a 7-5 lead but it wasn't enough against the fired-up Orioles.

Powell and Robinson each drove in two runs and scored three. Jim Northrup had a homer and double for Detroit, driving in two runs and scoring three.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Minnesota downed Washington 3-1, Chicago beat Cleveland 6-3, New York blanked Kansas City 4-0 and California and Boston split a doubleheader, the Red Sox winning the first game 6-1 and the Angels taking the nightcap, 1-0 in 10 innings.

Stotlemyre Clicks

The Athletics slipped into eighth behind New York when Mel Stottlemyre blanked them on six hits. Horace Clarke and Tom Tresh homered for the Yankees who won their fifth straight.

Don Buford and Jerry Adair drove in two runs apiece as the White Sox downed the Indians. Joe Horlen pitched five hitless innings but needed help from Hoyt Wilhelm to nail down the victory.

Dave Boswell's six-hitter gave Minnesota its 10th victory in 12 games this season against Washington. Boswell, 8-5, struck out eight and allowed only two hits after the third inning.

Darrell Brandon, a rookie right-hander, pitched a two-hitter and Don Demeter drove in two runs with a double and two singles as Boston beat California in the opener of their twi-night doubleheader.

Bob Rodgers' pinch single in the 10th inning decided the second game as three California pitchers—Dean Chance, Minnie Rojas and Jack Sanford—limited the Red Sox to two hits.

Chance allowed only a second-inning single by Tony Conigliaro but walked eight before Rojas came on in the ninth. Sanford pitched the 10th inning and gave up the other Boston hit.

UPPER MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Gerry Edwards resigned Wednesday as head football coach at Montclair State College.

Assigned to Grand Jury

Roger Steltz, 17, of 14 Stuyvesant Street, one of two teenagers booked recently on multiple assault charges, waived preliminary hearing today before Special City Judge George A. Beck and is to be heard by a grand jury. Hearing of a third degree assault charge is scheduled for Aug. 18. William James Michaels, 17, of 14 Shufeldt Street, who had also been booked on two charges of second degree assault, waived hearing earlier this month, and they were referred to a grand jury. Police said that two alleged victims of the assault, said to have been committed on Lucas Avenue, were hospitalized.

Pirates Are Proving Excellent Salesmen

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates are like a salesman. Let them get a foot in the door, and you'll wind up buying their product.

The Pirates got good use out of a foot Wednesday night and promptly put their product on display for all to see. The Los Angeles Dodgers didn't care for any, but the Pirates were persuasive and wound up with an 8-5 victory.

The triumph, coupled with San Francisco's 3-2, 10-inning loss to New York, boosted the first-place Pirates one game ahead of the Giants in the National League pennant race.

The Pirates weren't having too much success with their selling tactics until they put the foot in the right place.

Disintegration Process

The foot belonged to Matty Alou and it, along with the rest of the league's leading hitters, stepped into the batter's box with two out in the seventh inning and the Pirates trailing 5-2.

Don Drysdale fired a pitch that was inside and low, very low. Alou tried to get away from the ball, and all but his foot was successful. The ball hit the foot, Alou went to first and the Dodgers went to pieces.

SCHEDULE A

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situated in the Village of New Paltz, Ulster County, New York, and bounded and described as follows:

BEING the westerly part of a lot of land conveyed by Marianna B. Woolsey and others to Daniel R. Gerow by deed dated June 13, 1921 and recorded July 8, 1921, in Book 483, page 156.

BEGINNING at the southwesterly corner of said Gerow lot at intersection of center line of Pencil Hill Avenue, with the northerly line of Mrs. Berrago, marked at this time by a large post at end of wire fence in south line of said lot; thence as the magnetic needle points September 6, 1939, North 35° 30' East 300 feet along center line of Pencil Hill Avenue to intersection with center line of South Side Avenue; thence South 51° 30' East 125 feet along center line of South Side Avenue; thence South 35° 30' West 300 feet through land of Gerow to northerly line of Mrs. Berrago; thence north 51° 30' West 125 feet along Mrs. Berrago to place of beginning.

RESERVING a strip of land 25 feet wide along the westerly line of said lot for street purposes, being the easterly half of Pencil Hill Avenue, and also a strip 25 feet wide along the northerly line, being the Southerly half of South Side Avenue, leaving a lot 100 feet by 275 feet outside of streets.

BEING the same premises as conveyed by Daniel R. Gerow and Jane LeFevre Gerow, his wife, to Warner E. LeViness by deed dated September 12, 1939 and recorded in the Ulster County Clerk's Office on September 20, 1939 in Deed Book 604 at page 596.

West Shokan

WEST SHOKAN — The Olive Republican Club will hold its annual clambake Saturday, July 23, rain or shine. The bake will be from noon to dark at the West Shokan Recreation field. A capacity crowd is anticipated and ticket reservations may be made with the following members of the executive board: John J. Lynch, LeRoy V. Croswell, John T. Molloy, Ernest Gardner, Walter Lang, August Hansen or Lola Barringer. John J. Lynch is chairman.

American Legion Olive Post 1627, clambake proved to be a success. The bake was held Saturday, July 9, at the Town Recreation grove.

The Olive Square Club successfully observed Ladies Night July 11 at the West Shokan Reformed Church hall. Miss Ann Prochaska, who received the Square Club's 10th annual scholarship award, was present with her parents and members of her family. Miss Prochaska was a senior class graduate of the Onteora Central School and plans to enter a career for teacher training with the fall opening of Genesco College. Also present were Dr. and Mrs. Morris Kwitt who showed slides of their last winter European trip. Refreshments were served.

World War I veteran H. Constable together with World War I veterans Charles Wood and Carl Rosengren are patients at the Veterans Hospital, Albany. Reports from Charles Wood are that he is recovering nicely from his broken hip and is able to help himself around in a wheel chair. Carl Rosengren, who underwent a lung operation last week is reported in favorable condition and may return home within two weeks. The trio are Brodhead Road neighbors.

One day last week Mr. and Mrs. Barney McManus and friends from the city paid a visit to the state capitol at Albany.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelder are currently vacationing at their South Mountain estate Head Acres.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ingham of Bridgeport have reportedly sold their West Shokan Heights road secluded camp property to a Brooklyn party. Their eight-year-old son Clifford Jr., recently spent several days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Swan B. Brewster.

Miss Beth Pleasants, who has made the dean's list at Oswego State College, is spending the summer at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pleasants Sr. During her summer vacation she is employed with her father at Rotron in Woodstock. Her brother, Robert Pleasants Jr., a member of the Seabees is now in Viet Nam.

The recent opening of the Town of Olive swimming pool at the Recreation Field is proving a great attraction for all age groups. Older residents agree that the past month has been about the hottest in their recollection. They also recall the widespread damage from the freshet 11 years ago on July 10 which was followed in October by another devastating flood.

Jennie Kerr and a party of Alleghany County friends enjoyed a visit to Woodstock Thursday.

Ellwyn C. Davis entertained a surprise three-hour Sunday morning call by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ronk and neighbor, Mrs. Olivia Schelton of Walden. The group then enjoyed a picnic trip to the reservoir area.

Harlowe McLean visited the John McLean family in Margaretville Sunday. He reported Mr. and Mrs. McLean and their daughter are harvesting a heavy hay crop.

Marcel Maier attended last week's three day assembly of the State Highway Superintendents held at Ithaca. During his absence his wife visited their daughter, Mrs. Ralph Nelson and family in Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Avery gave a birthday party July 7 for their daughter Leeanne Marie Avery, who was three years old and also Mrs. Fannie Boice who was 92 years old July 10. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Grant Avery, Richard Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Boice, Malinda Robison and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ackert.

Okay 15 Projects

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Delaware River Basin Commission approved 15 projects Wednesday, and deferred action on four others.

The projects approved included:

—West Bradford Water Co. well water supply project in West Bradford Township, Chester County, expected to yield about 180 gallons per minutes.

5 Are Seized In Steal for Order Auto Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Queens Dist. Atty. Nat H. Hentel has announced the breakup of a statewide steal-to-order auto ring that he said offered to deliver any make, model and color car faster than many dealers.

Four men and a woman were arrested in Manhattan Wednesday after an investigation by detectives assigned to Hentel's office.

A detective and a city patrolman, in disguise, ordered and picked up two stolen cars, Hentel said.

He said most of the cars were stolen from parking lots of Aqueduct race Track in Queens, stored in the Bronx and sold in Manhattan. Most of them ended up in South America, Hentel said.

Those arrested were booked as Herbert S. Siegel, 36, a salesman, of Manhattan; his wife, Sandra, 19; Vincent Vaiano, 23, and John Cerverizzio, 27, both of Brooklyn; and Herbert Rabinowitz, 41, of Queens.

Siegel was booked on charges of grand larceny, forgery and conspiracy. His wife and the three other men were booked on grand larceny charges.

Johnson Cautious On Trial Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, while carefully avoiding retaliation threats, says the American people would "react accordingly" should Hanoi try downed U.S. pilots on charges of war crimes.

Asked about North Vietnamese threats that such trials will be launched, Johnson responded at a news conference Wednesday by saying: "I think the people of this country and the peaceful people of the world would find this action very revolting and repulsive, and would react accordingly."

A standing-room-only crowd of newsmen gathered in the klieg-lighted East Room of the White House for the 35-minute conference, aired by television and radio networks.

Boy Scout News
Hold Honor Court At Local School For Troop No. 18

Scout Troop 18 recently held a court of honor and investiture ceremony at troop quarters, St. Mary's School. Scout Joseph Conger was presented with his first class badge and, in turn, pinned his mother with a miniature.

Preceding the presentation was an impressive investiture ceremony in which Tenderfoot Scouts were officially welcomed into the troop by Scoutmaster William Belser. Those invested included: Charles Belser, Vincent Hart, Michael McDonough, Vincent McDonough Jr., James Baker and Thomas Sullivan. Opening ceremonies were in charge of William Norton Jr.

Mothers and fathers of the new members were present and each mother in turn was presented with a miniature pin by her son. Scoutmaster Belser briefed the parents on the many benefits of the scouting program and outlined the progress already made by the reorganized troop.

Chairman G. Knute Beichert introduced the committee members and thanked them for the splendid cooperation received. They included Edward Conger, institutional representative; Philip Sullivan, vice-chairman; Vincent McDonough, assistant scoutmaster, Gerald FitzGerald, treasurer; William Norton, activities and camping and James Baker, secretary.

Scout executive Alex McDonald presented a color slide program to acquaint parents with Camp Tri-Mount. The troop is scheduled to attend camp during the second week of August and McDonald outlined the new inovations to be found this year and spoke of the very high rating that the camp has received from the national organization. Also on the slide program was a series presented by Edward Conger showing Scouts at camporees and on hikes over the past several years.

Fires Are Quelled

Brush and grass fires were reported Wednesday afternoon in four fire districts. A spokesman at Mutual Aid headquarters reported Malden-West Camp and Gardiner firemen checked grass fires, and Plattekill and Woodstock and Zena volunteers extinguished brush fires. Ellenville firemen quelled a minor fire in the kitchen of a residence, it was reported.

Urge Restraint If Hanoi Puts Pilots on Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. J. W. Fulbright and Leverett Saltonstall called today for restraint in any American retaliation if North Viet Nam puts captured U.S. pilots on trial as war criminals.

President Johnson offered at his news conference Wednesday a U.S. meeting with Hanoi officials on the treatment of war prisoners — or to discuss any other subject.

The President denounced threats to put the prisoners on trial as "deplorable." But he carefully avoided saying whether retaliatory measures might be taken.

Amid widespread predictions in Congress that prisoner trials would generate public demands for all-out conventional war against North Viet Nam, Fulbright said this would be a "disastrous course" for the United States to take.

Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "If we start retaliatory action I'm afraid there would be no end to it."

Cancel Off Days For Policemen In Troy Tension

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—All days off for the 155 men of the Troy Police Department have been canceled until further notice, because of tension over a Negro incident, a spokesman said today.

Meanwhile, the department has decided not to suspend two patrolmen whom a 17-year-old Negro girl accused of beating her and pushing her down stairs early July 16 when they investigated a complaint that she was loitering in a hallway.

The girl, Miss Mary Berkley, was charged with second-degree assault. Patrolmen James Nelligan and George Dodge filed the assault charge, claiming that she kicked them and was otherwise abusive when they sought to remove her from the hallway.

On Monday night, about 60 Negroes marched to the city's central police station and demanded that the patrolmen be suspended. Police Chief James W. Doherty announced then that they would be suspended, pending an investigation.

But Doherty said Wednesday that, "after thoroughly reviewing" the case, "we find no justification to relieve the officers from duty."

Monday night, police began maintaining special patrols in the city, as Negroes and whites gathered in small groups along State Street, near the station, and leaders of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) protested that city officials had not kept their commitment.

City Manager Robert A. Stierer declined comment after meeting with civil rights leaders.

liquor, beer wine or other alcoholic beverage on a public highway, street, parking area or other public place except in a place licensed for the sale of alcoholic beverages, nor should anyone consume these beverages in any of the above mentioned places except in duly licensed emporiums.

The ordinance further proposes that any open bottle, can or container with alcoholic beverage found in a vehicle should be presumptive evidence that the same is in posession of any and all occupants of the vehicle. Violations could mean a fine of up to $50 or 10 days imprisonment for first offenders, or both for subsequent violations.

With all the sharp teeth needed written into the ordinance to cope with public nuisances in the public interest, the ordinance is slightly softened to give local organizations, families and individuals planning picnics, outings or other affairs an opportunity to serve beer or other beverages. Anyone, says the proposed ordinance, may apply for a permit to use such beverages on town property.

To Regulate Occupancy

To better police the whole problem in the village and to help regulate what has become an intolerable situation to many residents, the Board will also submit a second ordinance at the Aug. 2 hearing to keep that "certain element" from abusing the use of town-owned or leased properties and recreational facilities. The second ordinance seeks to regulate occupancy of such areas as the Village Green in the heart of town (the scene two summers ago of a near riot following folk-sing incident); the swimming area on Route 212 known as Big Deep; the Mallory Grove picnic area off Yerry Hill Road in Bearsville and the Andy Lee Memorial Field on Rock City Road, short blocks from the Green.

The new ordinance would prohibit occupancy of all these places without special permission of the Town Board during the hours of 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. It would also prohibit the conducting of any sales or other business of any nature in these areas without permission of the Board and, in the case of the Village Green, without the permission of the Dutch Reformed Church, which several years ago granted the town a 99 year lease on the Green, while retaining certain rights to the plot.

Because the Green has become one of the more flagrant trouble spots in the village in recent years, the ordinance calls for no occupancy of that area except on the benches provided without permission of the Board and the church. Further, the new regulations say no signs of any kind or nature can be placed at any of the areas involved and that receptacles supplied by the town must be used for the disposal of rubbish and trash.

Those found guilty of violating any of the rules in a first offense can be fined up to $25 or sentenced to 10 days in jail. Second offenders can draw a fine of up to $50 or 30 days in jail.

Petition Urges Curfew

There is reason to belive that the two proposed ordinances will draw strong support from large segments of the Woodstock community at the public hearing next month. The Town Board Tuesday night announced the receipt of a petition, bearing approximately 100 signatures of local residents, urging the adoption of a curfew for Woodstock. The petition minced no words in calling for an all-out war against disturbers of the peace.

Said the petition, "In the interest of having in Woodstock a pleasant and reasonable town in which to live and work, rather than to have its name a reproach as a place where you can get away with anything and a community of vagrants and off-beat, we petition for a curfew."

Among conditions at which the petition lashed out: racing on the public roads; unmuffled mufflers on vehicles; loitering and noisy behavior; car horns blown for other reasons than warning purposes; screaming, public drinking, necking, sunbathing and playground activities on the Village Green and nearby areas; younger people who insult elderly ladies on the street with slurring remarks; and the inability of citizens to easily contact local constables at night either directly or through county or state police.

Concluded the petition, the origin of which was not made known: "Definitive action must be taken now." The Woodstock Town Board would seem to be in almost complete agreement, judging from the two proposed ordinances on which the public will get a chance to speak its mind shortly.

RESCUED AGAIN—Navy Lt. Robert Adams, 25, of Minneapolis, has been rescued from North Vietnamese territory for the second time in less than a year after his jet bomber was shot down by groundfire. Chipp said death was due to "exsanguination."

Bowden Car Survivors

Pasengers in the Bowden car who survived were listed as:

Sherrie Silverman (age not available) of 241 Pineville Road, Spartanburg, S. C., who was ejected from the vehicle, and suffered cerebral concusions, multiple lacerations of the body; Phoebe Bowden, Brooklyn, wife of Donald Bowden, cerebral concussion, fractured left pelvis; and Edith Silverman, Spartanburg, multiple facial lacerations. Her condition was listed as critical at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie. The other injured were admitted at the Ellenville Community Hospital.

Coroner Chipp said DeVore, operating a coach type vehicle owned by Sharon M. DeVore, was traveling south on Route 209 and Bowden was driving north when the cars collided headon on a straight stretch of the highway. One vehicle had just rounded a sweeping curve seconds before the collision.

The six bodies were taken to the County Morgue where identification was made.

Coroner Chipp gave verdicts of accidental death.

Investigating the early morning fatality with Chipp were: State Police BCI Investigator Robert Larson, Wayne Lawrence and James Curtis.

The accident was the third multiple-death highway mishap in Ulster County this year. On Jan. 9 four persons were killed in a two-car headon crash on Route 9W at West Park. Two persons were killed April 8 in a Route 208 accident.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—A feeble attempt to rally was a failure and the stock market headed lower early this afternoon in light trading.

Smart recoveries by some of the glamor stocks featured early trading but there was no follow through and the gains of these issues were soon wiped out.

Prominent in this disappointing performance was Xerox, which had fallen 24½ points in the previous two sessions. Xerox recovered more than 2 points in early trading but quickly backtracked from the advance and showed a further net loss approaching 5 points.

The austerity program of the British government, aimed at supporting the pound sterling, was prominent in the Wall Street background.

The early recovery of stock prices was just a brief trading swing and the price level deteriorated as it lacked any encouragement in the news.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.94 at 872.55.

Pessimism about a possible early end to the airline strike accompanied a further decline by airline stocks. Eastern and American Airlines dropped 2 each, United and Pan American about 1½ each.

SCM was one of the hard-hit glamor issues which showed a gain in early trading but slumped to a loss later. Polaroid lost a fraction and Control Data more than a point. IBM held a gain of under 2.

ATTEND FUNERAL FOR SLAIN NURSE—Student nurse friends of Mary Ann Jordan, 20, one of eight nurses slain on Chicago's south side, attend the funeral service for Miss Jordan at St. Mary's Cemetery, Chicago. The nurses were found slain in a townhouse where they resided. (AP Wirephoto)

Try to Avert Full Breakdown In Air Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strike talks staggered on uncertainly today with federal officials trying to avert a complete breakdown.

Joseph W. Ramsey, vice president of the striking machinists union, said his plan for 35,000 strikers to vote on the latest offer by the airlines was up in the air because "there's nothing to vote on."

William J. Curtin, chief negotiator for the five grounded airlines, withdrew everything from the bargaining table after Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz denounced the union vote plans as "pointless."

President Johnson urged continuous talks until settlement of the two-week-old walkout, idling some 66,000 workers and costing many millions of dollars in lost wages and lost airline revenue and sharply cutting business in many parts of the nation.

Wirtz kept the two sides talking in hopes of getting meaningful negotiations back on the track.

JDA Grants . . .

number of jobs created or saved is based on estimates by the firms of the number of people they expect to employ after one year in their new facilities. Total land and building costs involved in the 17 projects are estimated at approximately $6,000,000.

The new loans bring the total approved or granted by JDA to 213, aggregating approximately $28 million. The loans are expected to create more than 9,100 new jobs and save about 4,200 others that might have been lost had the firms discontinued operations or moved out of the state.

The $294,000, 20-year, 4¾ per cent second mortgage JDA loan for V.A.W. United Aluminum Works of America, Inc. was made through the Ellenville Industrial Expansion Corp. It will held the company buy a 112,000 square foot building adjacent to its present plant in Ellenville.

At the conclusion of the public hearings decision was reserved and the testimony will be presented to the full commission for a decision.

Gravestones Upset

Local police today began investigation of a type of vandalism not reported here in some time. Twelve gravestones in Wiltwyck Cemetery were tipped or moved from place. Some were found broken, others chipped, and damage was estimated to be about $600. Detective William Slover investigated. Owners of plots have been notified of the damage. Another report this morning noted that a stone had been thrown through a large window at the Chelsea Furniture Exchange store, 16 Hasbrouck Avenue.

Speck Is . . .

Speck of Monmouth, Ill., and his brother-in-law, Eugene Thornton of Chicago, went to the hospital with Getty.

Getty, 53, has never had a client sentenced to death in 402 murder cases and has won acquittals in his last 14 cases before juries.

Considers Insanity Plea

His job is to defend persons who cannot afford to hire defense lawyers. Speck's sister, Mrs. Eugene Thornton of Chicago, asked Getty to try and see Speck.

Judge Daniel Ryan of the felony division of Circuit Court had assigned the lawyer Tuesday to defend Speck.

Getty, after a brief examination of Speck's background, said he is considering entering a plea of insanity. He said a sanity hearing would be held.

Getty said that during his meeting with Speck, the ex-convict was "at times coherent and at other times incoherent" and appeared to be very weak.

Judge Ryan continued the case after he allowed State's Atty. Daniel P. Ward to file a formal complaint charging Speck with murdering Gloria Jean Davy, 22, of Dyer, Ind.

Speck did not attend the hearing.

Multiple Charges Later

Ward has said he will probably file multiple murder charges later.

Miss Davy is believed to be the first of the eight student nurses at the South Chicago Community Hospital to die. Her nude body was found on a couch in the living room of the townhouse.

Ward asked Judge Ryan that Speck be held in the Cook County Jail as soon as medical experts approve. After such a transfer, Speck could be seen only by jail personnel, Getty and persons bearing passes signed by the public defender. Presumably there could be no interrogation of Speck by police and the state's attorney.

Wilson has maintained that Speck's fingerprints were found in the townhouse and that Speck's photograph was identified by Corazon Amurao, 23, sole survivor of the massacre. This is all the evidence needed, Wilson says.

Dr. William N. Norcross, the City Jail Hospital physician, said late Wednesday that Speck is comfortable, but eats poorly. He said Speck's diet consists primarily of liquids.

There is still a question whether Speck has suffered a heart attack. Dr. Norcross says there is an 80 per cent chance that Speck suffered a coronary thrombosis sometime Tuesday, the same day Miss Amurao confronted Speck in his hospital room.

There has been no official confirmation to newspaper reports that Miss Amurao — who crouched under a bed and prayed while her friends were being massacred — identified Speck in the hospital room as the slayer.

Innovations Will Mark Dutchess Fair This Year

Three innovations will highlight the 121st Dutchess County Fair along with the traditional agricultural, educational and entertainment features. The fair opens at Rhinebeck Aug. 23 and continues through Aug. 25.

"The 1966 fair is going to be packed with action," S. Richard Lloyd, manager-secretary, said today.

New this year will be the selection of a Dutchess County Beauty Queen, a firemen's parade and a Farm and Home Antique Show.

Finalists for the Beauty Contest on Aug. 27 now are being selected in preliminary competitions in the cities and towns of the county, with at least 20 pretty girls expected to vie for the county title. The winner will receive a $500 Savings Bond.

The firemen's parade, sponsored by the Dutchess County Volunteer Firemen's Association, will take place Aug. 28. Fifty-five firemanic and musical units already have made known they will participate.

The antique show has been created to preserve farm and home relics. The exhibit will take place in a tent this year but plans are being made for a permanent, fireproof building.

The 1966 program includes an afternoon of harness racing on opening day, a big fireworks display on the nights of Aug. 25 and Aug. 25, two different automobile thrill shows, nightly dances for teenagers with live music, along with the time-honored Mid-Hudson Valley competitions in the animal section, flower show and horse show.

Local Firemen Check Truck, Brush Fires

Local firemen checked a truck blaze and two brush fires Wednesday and reported a "small boy" apprehended after the sounding of a false alarm at 3:29 p. m. at Broadway and Spring Street.

A call at 2:02 p. m. was for a fire in a truck owned by the Fairview Block Co., of Poughkeepsie, while it was at the Clark Lumber Co., 480 Washington Avenue. It was driven by Lester Bugar, of Cedar Lane, Poughkeepsie. The fire involved an exhaust line. Firemen from Wiltwyck Station responded with Deputy Chief Glyn M. Southard in charge.

A call at 2:23 p. m. was for a brush fire at the rear of Colonial Gardens, Flatbush Avenue, and another at 4:23 p. m. was for burning brush at Roosevelt and Jefferson Avenues. Units from Central Station and the Wicks Company responded to both.

A Grandparent Plans For a Girl's Future

Q) "Our granddaughter received money on graduation from high school and she would like to invest this cash for her future. Would you please name a few good growth stocks?"

C.K.

A) Your granddaughter should be congratulated, and I have a strong suspicion as to where the money came from. Since she is probably a minor, she cannot buy stock herself, but can be given stocks under the Uniform Gift to Minors Act. If this is done, the stocks should be registered in the name of a Custodian for her under this same act.

If the stocks are so registered, the donor — if an adult member of the girl's family — may act as Custodian until she is 21. Then the shares can be placed in her name. I advise that she look long ahead and forego current income. For strong growth, I like Avon Products; American Hospital Supply; Bristol-Myers.

Q) "I hold Series E bonds dated from 1950 to 1954. Do these bonds continue to draw interest as long as I hold them, and if so, at the old rate or the new rate of 4.15 per cent? I have just received a Series E bond dated March, 1966, maturing in seven years nine months. Is this bond figured on the old rate of 3¾ per cent or the new rate of 4.15 per cent? How long does it take a bond to mature at full value at the new rate?"

T.S.

A) Your Series E bonds are in their first period of extension, and have never ceased accruing interest. All accruals are are the rate of 4.15 per cent since Dec. 1, 1965. Your Series E bond bought recently now has a maturity date of seven years which brings your interest to maturity up to 4.15 per cent.

All E bonds — dated Dec. 1, 1965 and subsequently — now mature in seven years and the interest accrual, if held to maturity, is 4.15 per cent.

Record-Breakers Ready Meteoric

rendezvous with something that had been up there for four months — with no radar beacon or lights. That one thing alone gives us an impact of what has been done on Gemini 10. It was tremendous."

Young, who had been a rather untalkative astronaut during his first two days in space, expressed his exuberance when he closed to within a few feet of Agena 8.

Termed Fantastic

"Fantastic, John," a ground station communicator exclaimed.

"I don't believe it myself," Young replied.

Young steered to within a few inches of the target, then backed away a few feet as Collins emerged from the spacecraft on the end of a 50-foot lifeline.

Using a gas-powered jet gun, this talking, breathing human satellite flitted over to the Agena and removed a micrometeorite experiment and a packet containing a microfilm letter.

Gemini 10's fuel had been scarce since an excessive amount was used to catch and link up with the "live" Agena 10 on the first day of the mission, Monday.

Monitors Watch

Ground monitors watched their instruments closely as Young conducted his maneuvers around Agena 8 with Collins outside. When the fuel supply dropped to a near-danger point, Lunney told Young to stop formation flying and ordered Collins: "Get back in."

"We're not saving much fuel with Mike out there bumping me," Young reported, referring to movements on the tether that caused the spacecraft to move and required the use of fuel for stabilization.

Collins abandoned plans to evaluate his maneuvering ability on the end of the tether, and moved back to the cabin, standing in the seat for several minutes before closing the hatch.

The hatch was open about 40 minutes, 15 minutes less than intended.

As Predicted

While outside, Collins reported: "Everything outside is about like we predicted. Only it takes more time for body positioning. This is indeed a problem. I found that the lack of a handhold is a big impediment. I could hang on (to the Agena) but I couldn't get around to the other side where I wanted to."

The detection package he retrieved has been collecting micrometeorites since the Agena was left in space last March by the Gemini 8 astronauts.

The microfilm letter is a note from Manned Spacecraft Center officials and, in effect, says it was retrieved in space by Air Force Lt. Col. David R. Scott. Scott had the assignment on his Gemini 8 flight but was unable to carry it out because the journey ended with an emergency landing.

Important Research

The ability to dock with a passive satellite like Agena 8 is especially important to planners of space rescue systems which may involve retrieval of a disabled manned or unmanned satellite. It would be important on man-to-the-moon flights — where two dockings are planned — if one vehicle lost its radar.

Still unexplained were the excess use of fuel during the original rendezvous and docking with the Agena 10, and the chemical fumes which filled the suits of the astronauts and forced Collins to curtail a "stand-up" exercise in which he opened his hatch Tuesday and poked the upper half of his body into space to conduct photographic experiments.

Drop Lower

After conducting the space walk Wednesday, the astronauts left Agena 8, firing their thrusters to drop the low point of their orbit from 248 miles down to 182 miles to establish a proper path for the firing of the retro-rockets. The high point remained at 248 miles.

They opened the hatch a third time to discard unwanted items such as the 50-foot lifeline, chest pack, empty food packages and other equipment used during the space walk.

"Gone, thank God," was Collins' comment when the line went overboard.

Earlier, Young said that with the lifeline in the cabin "this place makes the snakehouse at the zoo look like a Sunday School picnic."

Space litterbug Collins also reported he accidentally dropped a camera during his stroll and had to throw away an experiment package when ordered to return to the capsule early. He had planned to place the pack on Agena 8 for a future astronaut to retrieve.

Sometime Friday Agena 10 will be maneuvered by ground command into a 220-mile-high orbit to await another team of astronauts, probably Gemini 12 in October.

Charles Carroll, last of the survivors of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, died Nov. 14, 1832.

Senate Debates Price of Bread To Cost of War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is taking out all kinds of frustrations — from the war in Viet Nam to the price of bread in a supermarket — on the foreign aid bill.

"A general feeling of disenchantment" is the way Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield puts it.

"You can cover it up all you want but the feeling is still there," Mansfield said today in an interview.

Officials of the Agency for International Development solemnly watched from the gallery as the Senate, seemingly in a mutinous mood, took the ax to the $2.4billion economic assistance bill.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen pointed first to the need for Uncle Sam to save money and then to the spectre of inflation.

Dirksen confided that a loaf of whole wheat bread he likes for sandwiches cost 25 cents last week but when he bought it this week it was 30 cents.

The Senate, he said, couldn't short-change the soldiers in Viet Nam, so he proposed cutting $250 million from the $620-million tagged for development loans.

The Senate voted 59 to 34 to make the cut. Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee — the bill's manager — was among the yeas.

State Cools Off, Mercury Dips to 30s

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New Yorkers cooled off today in temperatures that dipped toward freezing, after the sweltering days of late June and the first half of July.

The Weather Bureau said Friday would be similarly sunny and cool.

Oneonta and Glens Falls, 40; Elmira 43; Watertown 45; Rome 46; Binghamton, Poughkeepsie and Albany 47; Utica and Westhampton Beach 48; Massena, Plattsburgh and Syracuse 49; Newburgh 50; Buffalo and Rochester 52; New York City 61.

Bats emit and react to supersonic vibrations of 45,000 to 50,000 cycles per second, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Ossining Man Killled

CROTON-ON-HUDSON, N. Y. (AP) —A private auto and a patrol car collided at an intersection early today, killing C. J. Cassidy of Ossining.

The patrolman, Jerry Vallo of North Tarrytown, was injured slightly, village police said.

Police said they were investigating the cause of the accident, at the intersection of Route 129 and Municipal Road.

Cassidy lived at 167 North Highland Ave. in Ossining, and Vallo resides at 22 Barnhart Ave., North Tarrytown.

Barge Accident Victim Resided Locally 15 Years

Benjamin J. Chase, 39, whose badly decomposed body was recovered from the Mohawk River Tuesday near Schenectady, had lived and worked in Kingston for some 15 years of his life before taking employment as a barge captain on the Kingston to Oswego run.

According to information received today from the Forst Packing Company, Kingston, Chase had been employed as a beef boner by the firm for all except five of the past 20 years. He first went to work for the company in August of 1943, leaving in October of that year. He returned to the local packing company in December of 1943 and remained at his job until March, 1945. He was last listed as a Forst employe from August, 1950 to May, 1963.

During this time, company records show that he listed several local addresses, including Lawrenceville Street and Box 178, Route 1. His last address here was Route 5, Box 1324.

At the time of his death he was an employe of Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Company, 615 Abeel Street, this city, and had joined the firm in 1963, after leaving Forst for the last time. He had been reported missing from his barge April 23.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11 a. m. from Casimir Funeral Home, Port Jefferson, L. I., near Selden, L. I., the present residence of his widow and three children.

Five From Here Are At Legion Convention

Five men from Kingston Post 150, American Legion left today to attend the four-day New York State American Legion convention in Albany which started Wednesday and will run through Saturday afternoon.

The local delegates include present Commander Robert Delanoy and past commanders William Hanley, Albert Sonnenberg, Frank Rodell and Paul Gardiner.

The last time the state meeting was held in Albany over 5,000 Legionnaires and their wives flocked to the capital of New York. This year's total attendance is expected to exceed that mark, according to Edward R. Delehanty, convention general chairman.

Today's schedule of activities includes a number of reports by the various state committee chairmen and an address by Lieut. Gov. Malcolm Wilson.

Darien Woman Killed

FAYETTE, N.Y. (AP) —Mrs. Richard Fricke, 42, of Darien, Conn., was killed Wednesday in a collision of two automobiles at the intersection of Routes 96 and 336 in this Seneca County community south of Seneca Falls. Her husband and three children also were injured.

Taken to Taylor-Browne Hospital in nearby Waterloo were Fricke, 44, who was listed in good condition, and the couple's three children, Diane, 18, Kathryn, 13 and David, 5, all in fair condition. All suffered cuts.

The Fricke address is 45 Birch Road.

Lightning Causes 2 Fire Alarms in Woodstock Area

Lightning strikes are believed to have started two fires in the Woodstock Fire District during a violent thunderstorm Tuesday afternoon. Fire units from that district responded to two other calls.

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson reported a call was received at 3:30 for fire at the home of an antique dealer at Simmons Drive and Rock City Road. Lightning is believed to have started the blaze in a bedroom. The fire burned two wall receptacles. Chief Wilson said "it was a smokey fire," which was extinguished by Co. 1 in command of Second Assistant Chief William Harder.

At about 5:30 p. m. Company 1, in charge of Chief Wilson responded to a call at the home of Knute Knutsen on Yerry Hill Road. The chief said it is believed lightning hit the rear of the house, which was completely involved when firemen arrived on the scene. Considerable damage was reported to the interior of the house. Co. 4 of Zena stood by at central firehouse during the fire, the chief said.

Woodstock firemen in charge of First Assistant Chief Robert Breitenstein answwered a call at 7:30 p. m., for a minor fire in the kitchen of a house at 10 Library Lane, believed to have been caused by an overheated light fixture.

At 3 a. m., firemen were sent to the Cafe Espresso in the village, after gas fumes were reported in the building. Chief Wilson said after a check was made by firemen, a gas tank was shut off.

In another report today, relative to Tuesday's storm, Jack Lebherz, district manager of the New York Telephone Company, said that a check made by company officials disclosed no volume of increased calls during the storm. He noted that scattered trouble was reported in the Kingston area and about 352 customers were affected. Lebherz also said there was about 12 cable trouble spots and normal service was expected to be completely restored by last night.

Would Avoid Explosion

PARIS (AP) — France's next nuclear test in the South Pacific will not result in an explosion if the safety devices on the atomic bomb work.

Informed sources said a working bomb will be dropped to test the safety devices, which are designed to prevent leakage of radioactive material in case a bomb is dropped accidentally.

Would Cut Conferences

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A special U.N. committee that studied the international organization's troubled finances recommends a sharp cut in the number of conferences sponsored.

The committee noted that there are about 7,820 such meetings a year now.

Immolation Thwarted

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An 18-year-old Buddhist monk set himself afire today South Viet Nam's most militant monk, Thich Tri Quang, told a religious meeting he would continue his 44-day antigovernment fast.

The young monk, identified as Quan Tuong, was rushed to a hospital in critical condition but was still alive two hours after he doused himself with gasoline and squatted in the muddy street outside Buddhist Youth Institute headquarters.

It was not immediately known if Quan Tuong heard Tri Quang repeat his demand that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky resign.

26,563 in Ulster Earn Wages Under Social Security

About 26,563 workers in Ulster County's nonfarming businesses earned taxable wages under the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program, according to the latest edition of County Business Patterns, George J. Habernig, Social Security district manager in Kingston said today.

Two thousand three hundred forty-eight reporting units of employers of nonfarm employes covered under the program paid out some $384,831,000 in taxable wages in the county during the first quarter of 1964. The report shows 29 of the employing units reported 100 or more workers each at that time. The largest proportion of employment, 12,955 workers, was in manufacturing.

The current edition of County Business Patterns is the 11th in a series showing county and industry statistics based on wage reports filed under the Federal social security program. This edition is divided into 53 parts contained in 53 separate books, one for the United States as a whole and one for each of the 50 states, Washington, D. C., and Puerto Rico, (which includes statistics for the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and Guam).

Reference copies of County Business Patterns may be examined at field offices of the U. S. Department of Commerce, at district and branch offices of the Social Security Administration, and at many public libraries.

Change Terminology

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The U.S. military command today changed its terminology for pilots held in North Viet Nam in an apparent move to discredit Hanoi's efforts to label them war criminals.

Pilots and other military prisoners will be officially listed as "captured or interned," the command said. For more than a year they have been listed as "detained."

The change was announced in a "memorandum to the press." Some 45 Americans have been listed as held by the north, almost all of them pilots.

Five Persons Shot As Cleveland Violence Flares

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police and National Guardsmen opened fire on a car early today, wounding a 16-year-old Negro mother and her two small children at the scene of a fire.

One of the wounded was a 7-month-old baby. The shooting started when the driver refused to get out of the car and tried to speed off, a guard spokesman said.

The gunfire climaxed a night of widely scattered firebombings and vandalism — sporadic disorders following the rioting Monday and Tuesday night that left two Negroes shot to death.

Wounded seriously were Christopher Green, 4, shot in the back of the head, and his mother, Mrs. Diane Towns, 16, hit in the face and shoulder. The boy was in surgery.

The hospital reported another child, Emmanuel Towns, 7 months, nicked on the neck and only slightly hurt. The hospital listed the young woman as the mother of both children.

Shot in the right leg was Ernest Williams, 12, brother of Mrs. Towns.

Mother and Son Are Injured in Crash Near City

Mrs. Karen Neff, 26, of High Falls and her son David, 6, were taken by Doctors Ambulance to Benedictine Hospital Wednesday night following an accident on Lucas Avenue Extension about five miles from the Kingston City line. Mrs. Neff suffered contusions of the back, a broken nose and fractured right leg. The boy received lacerations of the scalp and lip and possible concussion.

Deputy Sheriffs Jerry Vorisek and Harold Dohnken investigated and reported the car had left the highway while traveling north and struck a tree. It was towed from the scene.

The car was owned by Doris Trowbridge of Route 1, High Falls. Mrs. Neff told the officers she had no recollection of what happened. The accident occured about 7:45 p. m.

Halts Distribution

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The Franco government today halted distribution of an issue of the monarchist paper ABC, Spain's leading paper, which carried an editorial supporting the claim of Don Juan de Borbon to the Spanish throne.

Franco is sympathetic to a restoration of the monarchy in Spain but is grooming Prince Juan Carlos, son of Don Juan, for the throne.

FASHION FLAIR—A hat fashion familiar to Quakers turned up in a most unusual place—a space age manufacturing facility in Elkridge, Md. The young lady fashioned the hooded bonnet from a simple cap design which is required garb in the "clean room" manufacturing facilities at a molecular electronics plant. Technology may change, but not the female flair for fashion.
